Tejashwi is INDIA bloc's CM face, Sahani deputy

Announcement after Gehlot-Lalu meet; no word yet on seat-sharing

RAMASHANKAR @ Patna

AFTER weeks of hectic parleys, the opposition INDIA bloc on Thursday declared Rashtriya Janata Dal (RJD) leader Tejashwi Prasad Yadav its chief ministerial candidate for the upcoming Bihar elections.

Congress leader Ashok Gehlot announced the decision at a press meet in Patna, a day after he and party's state incharge Krishna Allavaru met RJD chief Lalu Prasad and Tejashwi to end the stalemate over seat-sharing and 'friendly fight' in a few seats.

However, in the press meet, there was no announcement of any seat-sharing deal.

Gehlot, who has been camping in Patna since Wednesday, said Vikassheel Insaan Party (VIP) chief Mukesh Sahani will be the alliance's deputy CM face. He said more deputy CMs would be appointed if INDIA bloc comes to power.

Tejashwi, Sahani, CPI-ML (Liberation)'s Dipankar Bhattacharya, and state Congress president Rajesh Ram addressed the press meet along with Gehlot.

"Tejashwi is a young and dynamic leader. We are also declaring Mukesh Sahani, an EBC leader, who has struggled to rise to this position, as the deputy CM face. Sahani is a messiah of his (Mallah) community. After we win the elections, some people from other sections of society could also be made deputy CMs," Gehlot said.

Tejashwi thanked his father Lalu, Congress leaders Sonia Gandhi, Rahul Gandhi, and Mallikarjun Kharge for reposing faith in him. "I alone will not become CM but everyone from Bihar will become Change Makers (CMs)," he remarked.

He claimed if a government is formed under his leadership, he would do all the development works the NDA could not do in 20 years, in just 20 months.

Taking a dig at the NDA for not announcing its CM face, Tejashwi said, "Why did the NDA not declare Nitish the CM face? We have been saying that the BJP will not make Nitish the CM. Ami Shah has also clearly said it the elected MLAs will take a decision on this... You (the BJP) have always declared a CM face. Why not this time?"

Gehlot also targeted Shah, saying: "Your contention that Nitish will lead the NDA in the polls has no meaning." P12

SIT questions four in connection with voters' name deletion in Aland

RAMAKRISHNA BADSESHI
@Kalaburagi

IN a significant step, the Special Investigation Team (SIT), for the first time, has detained four data centre operators in connection with illegal deletion of names from voters' list in Aland Assembly constituency in the run up to the elections in 2023. The SIT questioned the detainees in Bengaluru on Wednesday for reportedly making forged Form 7 applications to delete voters' names.

A week ago, the SIT had raided their houses and recovered seven laptops and 15 mobile phones. The SIT is probing allegations that data center operators were paid Rs 80 for each Form 7 application (for deleting the names of voters from the voters' list). A total of 6,018 applications were made between December 2022 and February 2023, working to a total payment of Rs. 4.8 lakh.

The state police had registered an FIR on deletion of voters' names after BR Patil, Aland MLA, and deputy chairman of State Planning Commission, raised a complaint in 2023. The investigation was taken over by the Crime Investigation Department (CID) this September.

The issue became a national furore after Congress leader Rahul Gandhi highlighted the alleged vote theft in Aland.

Within a few days of the SIT taking over the investigation, a set of voters' list was found burnt in a garbage yard in Aland.

The SIT visited the spot and collected half- burnt voters' list and sent them to Forensic Science Laboratory in Kalaburragi.

Last week, the SIT had raided the houses of former Aland MLA, Subhash Guttedar, and his sons, Harshanand and Santosh Guttedar.

AI faces 250 seat faults a month

S LALITHA @ New Delhi

AN average of 250 passenger seats on Air India flights develop faults every month, posing persistent challenge for the Tata group as it works to modernise the ageing fleet it acquired from the government in January 2022.

According to airline insiders, the main hurdle lies in the non-availability of spare parts for older aircraft, many of which are 15-20 years old. In several cases, even the original manufacturers of seat components have shut down.

"Seat maintenance was never a priority earlier," said a senior Air India source. "A seat includes not just the cushion but also trays, in-flight entertainment screens, and fittings. Sometimes, passengers themselves cause damage during travel, and immediate repairs aren't possible if the aircraft is due for a quick turnaround."

While travellers have long voiced concerns over poor cabin conditions, a recent social media outcry by a business class passenger brought renewed scrutiny. The passenger, flying AI 187 from Delhi to Toronto laimed he was asked to sign a consent form acknowledging his seat's broken tray before boarding.

The airline, however, insists that a large-scale retrofit and modernisation plan is already in motion. All 26 A320 aircraft have been upgraded, featuring new seats and interiors.

Yathindra for Satish Jarkiholi as Siddu heir

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Belagavi

AMID the intense power-sharing tussle within the Karnataka Congress, Chief Minister Siddaramaiah's son Yathindra Siddaramaiah has set off a political tremor by openly hinting that PWD Minister Satish Jarkiholi could succeed his father.

At a public event in Raibag on Wednesday, Yathindra praised Jarkiholi, calling him a "capable and deserving successor" to CM Siddaramaiah. The remark, coming at a time when the Congress is battling internal friction, has triggered a storm of speculation within party ranks, and reset the political narrative.

The question of who will lead the Congress after Siddaramaiah has long divided the party. Deputy Chief Minister DK Shivakumar, representing the Vokkaliga community, is seen as a leader with the potential to become the next chief minister. P4

More areas on city outskirts to come under GBA

DCM says over 25 lakh people live on GBA periphery, they should be brought under it

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Bengaluru

DEPUTY Chief Minister DK Shivakumar said on Thursday that more areas on the outskirts of Bengaluru that have urban characteristics will be brought under the Greater Bengaluru Authority (GBA).

Speaking after inspecting such areas, Shivakumar said that he will hold a meeting on Friday to discuss this matter. A committee under former chief secretary BS Patil, who headed the BBMP restructuring committee, is preparing a report in this regard.

Shivakumar, who visited several areas close to Bengaluru South City Corporation limits such as Bannerghatta, Jigani, Electronics City and Anekal, which are under town municipal council or taluk panchayat limits, said, "Over 25 lakh people live on the periphery of GBA. There is a need to bring them under GBA."

"Anekal will be brought under GBA in the near future. Cauvery water is being provided. Discussions will be held on other facilities to be provided to people living there," he said.

He said that a plan to ease traffic congestion in the Anekal region should be formulated at the earliest. It will be difficult to formulate such a plan later.

On pothole-filling work, he said civic officials have been given responsibilities and they are doing their job. In some places, broken stretches are being asphalted. The work is not progressing as desired because of rain.

Asked if he saw potholes and garbage in Electronics City as complained by Biocon founder Kiran Mazumdar Shaw, Shivakumar said, "I visited the area. Biocon is in panchayat limits and not under GBA."

On why no disciplinary action has been taken against Congress MLC Yatindra and other MLAs for their statements, Shivakumar said, "I will respond to them at an appropriate time."

Responding to a question on the SIT report which stated that 6,000 names had been removed from the voters' list in Aland Assembly constituency, he said, "There is no doubt about it. Officials complained about it long ago. Law will take its own course."

SURVEY, RAINS POSE CHALLENGE TO MEET POTHOLE DEADLINE: GBA CHIEF

Bengaluru: WITH its prime focus on completing the ongoing Socio-Economic Survey and the North East Monsoon hovering around the South Interior districts, including Bengaluru City, the Greater Bengaluru Authority (GBA) is facing a tough time to close thousands of potholes across the city to meet the October 31 deadline set by Chief Minister Siddaramaiah. GBA Chief M Maheshwar Rao said, "Due to rains, potholes have resurfaced. Both the survey work and rains have been posing a big challenge to close potholes." Recently, Deputy Chief Minister and Bengaluru Development Minister DK Shivakumar had claimed that the 10,000 potholes were closed across five City corporations under the GBA limits and stated that white topping of 500 kms of road length will be taken up under a cost of Rs 4,000 crore. The GBA engineers claimed that they are leaving homes as early as 8 am and are returning home late evening due to the ongoing survey, and hence, pothole filling and annual maintenance works have been severely impacted. "We were supposed to prepare the list of pothole filling works. We have to upload the photo of work completion in a dedicated application, and due to our engagement with the socio-economic survey, these activities are affected," said a senior engineer. ENS

Police top brass celebrates festival with staff families, boosts morale

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Bengaluru

IN a move to boost the morale of lower rung staff, the city police top brass celebrated Deepavali with the families of policemen. City Police Commissioner Seemant Kumar Singh and his subordinates celebrated Deepavali with police families across 60 police residential quarters on Tuesday evening.

The Commissioner, Additional Commissioners and Joint Commissioners of Police, and jurisdictional Deputy Commissioners of Police (DCPs) visited police quarters and distributed sweet boxes and green crackers to all families. The officers interacted with children and promoted eco-friendly celebrations, and thanked the families for their support towards the police department.

Seemant Kumar Singh told TNIE they thought of holding these celebrations as police personnel are always on duty, with no fixed hours, and don't get time to celebrate with their children and families. "No one had done it before. I discussed it with my senior officers. We didn't want to make it a formal function, but just visit as many places as possible. We have 60 police quarters across the city. Some are big clusters, like 300 flats. We made teams and each officer with subordinates was assigned certain quarters to visit families with sweets and crackers. The children never expected such celebrations, and were very happy. As per reports we got, the family members said they were not part of any such celebration. So we want this to be an annual feature. It was a morale booster for the police personnel. All police officers had gone in uniform so their duty was not affected," Singh said.

DCP North Babasab Nemagoud said police staffers' families enjoyed the experience and the response was excellent as senior police officers had celebrated the festival with them. "It was a first of its kind experience even for me to celebrate Deepavali with the police commissioner at the quarters in Nandini Layout. It was a surprise for the police families as everything happened at very short notice," he said.

VK Vasudev, Madiwala subdivision Assistant Commissioner of Police (ACP), said hostel students of Government Model Primary School inside CAR (South) premises were thrilled to celebrate Deepavali with police officers. Such festivals are rare for the students as some of them are orphans. The celebrations were led by DCP - South East Sarah Fathima. All the kids were given sweet boxes and green crackers, he said.

Rekha, a resident of Nandini Layout police quarters, said the police commissioner celebrating Deepavali with them had filled them with happiness and appreciation. "Such celebrations with the city's top cop are very rare," she added.

City saw 44% drop in air pollution this Deepavali

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@Bengaluru

THE city recorded 44% lower air pollution level during the three-day Deepavali festival compared to the previous year. According to the Karnataka State Pollution Control Board's (KSPCB) Continuous Ambient Air Quality Monitoring Station (CAAQMS), the average Air Quality Index (AQI) improved from 120 to 83 this festival season.

Of the 11 monitoring stations in the city, the cumulative data for the three days shows that Hebbal recorded the sharpest decline of 179%, followed by NIMHANS with 62% and Jigani with 60%. Saneguruvanahalli was the only location to record a slight increase of 2% in air pollution levels.

The first day of Deepavali (October 20) saw the cleanest air quality, registering a 98% drop in pollution levels compared to the same day last year as the average AQI which was 153 dipped to 77. However, air quality slightly worsened on the second and third days, with the third day showing only a 7% decline from 2024 levels.

Compared to pre-Deepavali conditions on October 19, pollution levels during the festival showed an additional 5% drop, reflecting a modest but positive trend. Noise levels monitored through Continuous Ambient Noise Monitoring Stations (CANMS) at six city locations told a different story. Five stations reported an increase in noise levels, while only Nisarga Bhavan in Basaveshwaranagar showed a decline.

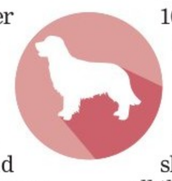
A season of abuse, trauma, says animal rescuers

GAYATHRI M KURUP @ Bengaluru:

WHILE Deepavali lights up your homes and streets, the walls of animal rescue centres are filled with the painful barks and howls of helpless animals who are unwitting victims of the celebrations.

Bengaluru rescue centres have seen an increase in animal abuse and injuries due to crackers.

"Almost 30-40 cases were reported over the past 4-5 days," said Lakshmi Swaminathan, founder, Mylos Rescue. "Some of the most disturbing incidents involve abuse. There were a couple of cases where dogs' legs were tied with crackers. In one case, children at a construction site had done this, and we had to rescue the dog after receiving a call," she recalled. "There are also cases where frightened dogs enter apartments, refuse to leave, and people call us saying they're being aggressive, but they're just scared," she added.



Kirtan Aarti, manager at Charlie's Animal Rescue Centre (CARE), shared that along Ballari Main Road and the airport flyover, seven to eight dogs were found dead, run over by vehicles as they tried to escape the sound of crackers.

"They run towards quieter areas like highways or open spaces and end up losing their lives," he added.

"We got multiple calls from Ullal, Kengeri and Banashankari, where a dog had been severely abused -- crackers were put in its mouth and burst. Sadly, we couldn't save it," said Rajkumar, founder of Little Hearts Animal Healing Rescue Centre.

"In total, we received about 10 cases but could only rescue three animals. Two dogs passed away, and one cat, fully burned, is under medical care. We also had a cow whose shoulder was injured, and all these injuries were caused by crackers," he added.

Rescuers also reported cats going missing from homes, frightened by the noise; they often run away and fail to return. Owls, being nocturnal birds, were found disoriented and injured, often after colliding with walls or vehicles.

According to Swaminathan, night calls are common during the festive season. "Most of the time, animals run in panic at night, get injured by vehicles, or collapse out of fear," she said.

While the celebration affects all animals, experts say dogs are most vulnerable. "The extreme noise levels, often ranging from 100-140 decibels, can cause severe physiological trauma. This includes a sharp increase in heart rate, potentially leading to heart attacks. Prolonged exposure to fireworks may lead to trembling, hiding, pacing, drooling, loss of bladder control, or even aggression," said Payel Chakraborty, animal communicator and healer.

TAJ SELEQTIONS GATEWAY VIVANTA GINGER TREE OF LIFE

DCM DK Shivakumar said Union Minister for Power and Housing and Urban Affairs Manohar Lal Khattar has agreed to hold a conference of Urban Development Ministers of South Indian states in Bengaluru on October 30. The DCM said he would urge the Centre to release funds for Bengaluru, and submit a memorandum on the city's development to the Union minister

Now, tussle begins in Cong to take over AHINDA mantle from Siddu

Some party sympathisers back Priyank, others see Satish as a pillar of AHINDA movement

DEVARAJ B HIREHALLI @ Bengaluru

CHIEF Minister Siddaramaiah's son Dr Yathindra's statement that PWD minister Satish Jarkiholi deserved to be the ideological heir of his father who championed the cause of AHINDA (minorities, backward classes and the Dalits) has created ripples within the Congress.

It has been interpreted as a counter to RDPR minister and IT/BT Minister Priyank Kharge who has showed signs of championing the AHINDA cause, albeit on ideological ground, taking on RSS.

Some Congress sympathisers say Priyank could step into the shoes of Siddaramaiah. A section of AHINDA community youths under the banner of 'Yuva AHINDA Karnataka' has been projecting him as chief minister candidate on social media.

"With his criticism of RSS, Priyank has emerged as a leader who can match Siddaramaiah within the party, especially those from AHINDA communities getting sidelined," observed a Congress leader.

At a function held at Raibag on Wednesday, Yathindra had said that since his father is in his political twilight Satish Jarkiholi will take up the mantle to lead the AHINDA.

Home Minister Dr G Parameshwara defended Yathindra saying that Jarkiholi was one of the pillars of the AHINDA movement.

"He (Yathindra) did not say it in the context of change in leadership but ideologically what's wrong with it. Satish, who had played a key role in organising the AHINDA movement, is in the same path Siddaramaiah trod," he said.

Industries Minister MB Patil said that Satish is known for organising the SC/ST/OBCs for a long time.

Meanwhile, Priyank told reporters that there is nothing wrong with Yathindra's statement but suggested that those enjoying power in the Congress must also shoulder responsibility.

"Yathindra had clarified that there are many leaders, including Satish, to carry forward the ideology. Satish had organised programmes to eliminate superstition and showed his commitment to the Constitution and in favour of the Congress. What's wrong with it? There must be an ideological heir (to Siddaramaiah). Whether it's me, Satish Jarkiholi, Dinesh Gundu Rao or Krishna Byre Gowda the crucial thing is to ensure dignified life to everyone," he said.

I aspire for CM's post, but party will decide, says Satish

ENS @ Belagavi

PWD Minister Satish Jarkiholi has once again made it clear that he sees himself as a contender for the chief minister's post in 2028, reiterating his long-held ambition while emphasising his roots as an AHINDA leader.

Speaking at Kakati near Belagavi on Wednesday, Jarkiholi said, "I have already stated earlier that I am an aspirant for the CM's post in 2028. Ultimately, the decision will rest with the party. There are still about 30 months to go, and everything will depend on the opinion of legislators."

He backed Congress MLC Yathindra Siddaramaiah's recent remarks endorsing Chief Minister Siddaramaiah's leadership, calling them Yathindra's personal opinion. "We have always stood as AHINDA leaders. Yathindra's statement is his individual view," Jarkiholi clarified.

When asked about reports suggesting a change in the KPCC president's post in December, Jarkiholi said he was unaware of any such move, adding, "I don't know anything about a change in the party president."

Jarkiholi's reiteration of his chief ministerial aspirations, amid ongoing murmurs of power-sharing and leadership recalibration within the Congress, has added a fresh dimension to Karnataka's evolving political scene.

HDK takes Priyank to task over 'saffronisation' of JDS

@ Bengaluru

Union minister HD Kumaraswamy (centre) attends a function to felicitate veteran filmmaker SV Rajendra Singh Babu (right) for the latter's 50 years in the film industry, as actor Sudeep looks on, in Bengaluru on Thursday | KEVIN NASHON

DISMISSING IT/BT Minister Priyank Kharge's (bottom) statement that the JDS had saffronised itself for the sake of power, Union Minister for Steel and Heavy Industries HD Kumaraswamy said it was Congress that came knocking at his door to form the government in 2018. "Didn't they know before that I had formed a government with the BJP?" he asked. He agreed he had criticised the RSS earlier and he would not deny it.

"Let him ask his father, AICC president Mallikarjun Kharge, what exactly happened back then and learn about it. Instead of indulging in politics in Bengaluru, let him focus on what is happening in his own district," he hit out at Kharge junior.

Speaking to reporters on Thursday, Kumaraswamy advised Priyank to stop petty politics and instead address on the floods in Kalaburagi district. "When Congress leaders speak, they claim I was at the Taj Hotel. If I had only been sleeping in the Taj Hotel, would it have been possible to waive Rs 25,000 crore worth of farmers' loans?" Kumaraswamy asked.

He said as Chief Minister, he had provided Rs 19,000 crore in grants in just one year for the development of constituencies with the Congress MLAs. "Now, Siddaramaiah says let us discuss what Kumaraswamy gave. The records and statistics are with him. He should check them first," he said.

Kumaraswamy said despite the people giving it 136 seats, Congress has failed to address their issues. "In Kalaburagi, people are on the streets, farmers are in distress. What have you done?" he questioned Kharge.

He said when farmers requested Mallikarjun Kharge about the loss of 40 acres of crops in their fields, he replied 'Where should I go then?'. This is what a senior leader told farmers. "I need not have to learn politics from you. You have no moral right to speak about me or my party," he said.

Kumaraswamy said everyone knows whom Congress has backstabbed. He said the Congress did not allow Prime Minister Charan Singh to face Parliament. "The Congress also destroyed Deve Gowda's political future," he said.

Kumaraswamy said there is no plan to change the party's state president. "As of now, I am the president. On the other hand, there is an idea that Nikhil Kumaraswamy should be given responsibility, but no discussion has taken place on this yet. For now, there is no change in the JDS state president," he said.

He said the JDS and the BJP will form coordination committees for Bengaluru and the state. "In about 10 days, we will take a final decision on this." Speaking on the reconstitution of the core committee, he said: "Our party has already held a meeting on this. We have decided to form a committee for the party organisation regarding the core committee and the corporation elections. A decision will be taken in the coming days."

'Calculated signal from Siddaramaiah's camp'

NOW, Yathindra's endorsement of Satish Jarkiholi, an AHINDA (minorities, backward classes and Dalits) leader, has added a new dimension to the leadership race, and possibly, a new power tussle within the Congress.

Party insiders see Yathindra's words as a calculated signal from Siddaramaiah's camp that the CM's political legacy could continue through someone who shares his social base and ideological space. The development comes amid growing demands from within the AHINDA faction to ensure the community's continued leadership in the party. There is also mounting discontent over what some leaders see as Shivakumar's overreach in government affairs.

Political message for 2028

By projecting Jarkiholi, Yathindra has effectively thrown the gauntlet in the Congress's internal succession debate. If the Chief Minister's camp rallies behind Jarkiholi, the state Congress may soon witness a three-way contest for the top seat -- between Shivakumar, Jarkiholi and Industries Minister MB Patil.

Whatever discussions took place at Siddaramaiah's house have been revealed by Yathindra. Therefore, Shivakumar, who is going from temple-to-temple, will end up as a sacrificial lamb," he stated.

"Shivakumar, who claims that the Congress came to power because of original Congress workers, is being plotted against by Siddaramaiah. This is just a trial; the real picture of Siddaramaiah is yet to come," he said, expressing, "The CM's chair is shaking. The government has no funds to fill potholes across the state or to give compensation for crop loss. To divert people's attention, the Congress has brought up the RSS issue."

Speaking about minister Priyank Kharge's remarks, he said, "I will not respond... If needed, I am ready to discuss the development of his department. Let him first explain what development he has brought as IT/BT Minister."

Surya terms Congress rule as 'eclipse on state's devpt'

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Bengaluru

BJP MP Tejasvi Surya on Thursday tore into CM Siddaramaiah for making a personal attack on him, and termed Congress rule in Karnataka as "an eclipse on the state's development".

Surya, Lok Sabha MP from Bengaluru South, said the Congress government has not taken up any development work in the last two-and-half years. When Google decided to invest $15 billion to build an AI data hub in AP, the Karnataka IT/BT minister was busy trying to ban the RSS, and when crimes against women were increasing, and the state home minister was busy with betting, he alleged.

Siddaramaiah had termed Surya "Amavasya" (new moon day when the moon is not visible). The BJP leader said he would not make any personal remarks against the CM, but questioned his government's performance.

The BJP MP said potholed roads across the state reflected the state of affairs in Karnataka. Not even 1 km of road in Bengaluru is free of potholes and the condition of footpaths is even worse.

Hitting out at Siddaramaiah for criticising PM Narendra Modi, Surya said the CM often questions the PM and MPs from the state in order to cover up the state government's failures. He added that over 2,500 farmers died by suicide, transport corporation employees are protesting against the government's failure to pay their salaries, the government has not filled up vacancies, and thousands of youth are protesting against it, there is rampant corruption and money that is supposed to be spent for people's welfare is used in elections in Bihar.

Law & order slumped under Cong rule: Ashoka

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Hubballi

REACTING to the case where three men allegedly raped a young woman in Bengaluru this week, Leader of Opposition in the Assembly R Ashoka on Thursday stated that there is a failure of law and order in Karnataka.

"Chief Minister Siddaramaiah is careless and Deputy Chief Minister DK Shivakumar is busy trying to grab power. Home Minister Dr G Parameshwara doesn't seem to know anything either, and keeps saying he will get a report and then respond. Since the Congress came to power, there is no law and order in the state," Ashoka said

"The Congress should first clarify where it's getting its money from. There are various authorities to inquire into the financial matters related to RSS. The Congress has no authority to question this," he added.

"Regarding the RSS registration issue, the Congress should first understand which law in the Constitution makes registration mandatory. Anyone can start any organisation, and registration is not compulsory. If they want information about the RSS, they can visit our office. Till now, the RSS does not own any land or building; wherever we are, it is under the name of local leaders," he said.

Separately, Ashoka said a revolution and power change in the state is certain by November. "The proof is with Chief Minister Siddaramaiah's son Yathindra saying that Satish Jarkiholi will be the next CM.

RSS seeks nod for route march in Chittapur

@ Kalaburagi

THE RSS has submitted an application to the Kalaburagi district administration and to Chittapur Tahasildar seeking permission for conducting a route march in Chittapur on November 2 as per the directions from Kalaburagi bench of the Karnataka High Court.

Bhim Army and Dalit Panthers have also submitted separate applications to the Chittapur Tahasildar to permit them to conduct processions on the same day and same time at which the RSS has proposed to conduct its route march.

Bhim Army has asked the tahsildar to allow it to take out a procession carrying its blue flag and lathi.

Chittapur Tahasildar Nagayya Hiremath told TNIE that Gonda, Kuruba ST Action Committee, has also submitted an application seeking permission to stage a protest programme on November 2 to put pressure on the government to include Gonda and Kuruba community under the ST category.

Another outfit, Souharda Karnataka Forum, has submitted a memorandum asking the administration to prohibit the RSS from conducting its route march on November 2.

The RSS had filed a petition in the Kalaburagi bench of the High Court questioning the ban on taking out route march in Chittapur. The court asked RSS whether it can conduct its route march on November 2 and if it is prepared to conduct the march, it can submit an application to the district administration before October 24.

The tahsildar said he would submit his report to the district administration after receiving a report from the police. Kalaburagi SP Adduru Srinivasalu said the police department has sought legal opinion on the matter.

ALAND VOTE THEFT: SIT WRITES TO EC SEEKING TECHNICAL DETAILS

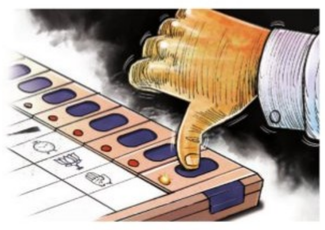
BALA CHAUHAN @ Bengaluru

THE Special Investigation Team (SIT) probing the alleged voter theft in Aland has written to Chief Electoral Officer (CEO), Karnataka, requesting for details such as device ports, IP addresses and OTP trails that were reportedly used for filing 6,018 Form 7 applications for deletion of names from the voters' list of Aland constituency between February 2022 and February 2023. "The SIT is awaiting a reply from the CEO," sources told TNIE.

Even as the SIT is awaiting a response from the CEO, its use of Internet Protocol Detail Record (IPDR), an important digital forensic tool to gather intelligence, has reportedly come of use in unearthing digital footprints of suspects, the data operators, who may have been behind the racket.

The trail has led the team to a call centre in Kalaburagi with Mohammed Akram as the alleged brain behind the attempt to manipulate voter data in the Kalaburagi region.

Akram, with his associate Ashfaq and four others have so far reportedly emerged as the key players behind the filing of 6,018 applications for voter deletion at a payment of Rs 80 for each such application.



"The SIT investigation has unravelled that 75 mobile phones - of people from divergent backgrounds mostly from lower to middle income groups – were used for online applications to the EC. The team is investigating the mode and source of payment. It may be a challenge to unearth the money trail if it was paid in cash," said sources.

The SIT has to investigate and establish who had approached the four suspects and how did they zero in on 6,018 voters whose names were fraudulently used to file Form 7 to the Election Commission for deletion of names from the electoral roll.

SIT taking CID's help, says sources

HARSHANAND said the SIT did not seize any documents during the raid and they have not received any notice from the agency.

The EC has said that only 24 of the 6,018 voters on whose behalf applications were made were deleted as they no longer lived in the constituency in the run up to the Assembly elections in 2023.

The local police had questioned one Mohammed Ashfaq in February 2023. Sources say Ashfaq had told the police that he would surrender the electronic devices in his possession but later moved to Dubai. The SIT found that Ashfaq still kept in touch with his associates, one Md Akram, and three others.

Sources said the SIT is taking the assistance of CID in conducting the investigation. More individuals are likely to be questioned by SIT in the coming days, sources added.

Kalaburagi DC will take decision on permission for processions: Dr G

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Bengaluru

HOME Minister Dr G Parameshwara said on Thursday that based on the state government's order (issued by the previous BJP government headed by Shettar), the Kalaburagi deputy commissioner will give permission for processions and other activities by various organisations in that district.

Addressing reporters here, Dr Parameshwara said that his government did not issue the order keeping Rashtriya Swayamsevak Sangh (RSS) in mind. "As a responsible government, we don't want to see any activity that disturbs peace and harmony in society," he added.

He said the order has no reference to RSS. School grounds are for sports, academic and cultural activities. When Jagadish Shettar was CM in 2013, he issued the order with good intention. "We have issued the same order. The government's duty is to provide solutions to problems," he added.

On guidelines related to the order, Dr Parameshwara said there is clarity in it. To make it more specific, the home department will soon issue guidelines. The district administrations should take decisions based on the guidelines henceforth. On RSS and two more organisations seeking permission to take out processions at Chittapur in Kalaburagi district on the same day, he said the district administration will take a call.

Security for Priyank

Asked if the home department has given additional security to IT-BT and RDPR Minister Priyank Kharge, Dr Parameshwara said Kharge received several threat calls and messages. He said, "In such cases, we have to give protection. If we don't give protection to a cabinet rank minister, then what's the government for?"

On new recruitments in the police department, Dr Parameshwara said in the next five days, the government will issue a notification to recruit 4,600 constables. There are 15,000 vacant posts of constable in the state. After recruiting 4,600 constables, the government will issue another notification to appoint 5,000 more constables. The department needs space to train new recruits. At present, 545 sub-inspectors are undergoing training. They will be deputed to police stations in the next four months. The government has issued a notification to recruit 400 more sub-inspectors, he said.

3 held for gang rape of beautician

Accused identify themselves as police informants, assault survivor's son with cricket bat

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Bengaluru

POLICE have arrested three men in connection with the gang rape of a 27-year-old beautician from West Bengal on Tuesday night in Gangondanahalli, near Dasanapura.

The arrested were identified as Karthik, Glenn, and Suyog, all aged around 30, and drivers by profession. Two more accused, who were standing guard outside the house, are yet to be arrested.

The accused, under the influence of alcohol, raped the woman after assaulting two persons, including her son, with a cricket bat. Both of them are under treatment in NIMHANS.

The incident came to light after the survivor's son called the police control room '112' and reported the incident. After gathering details of the physical attributes of the accused, the police arrested them, and they apparently reside in the same vicinity.

The woman had come to the city six years ago and was working in a beauty salon in Shivajinagar. She was living in a rented house in Gangondanahalli with her family. On Tuesday evening, around 7 pm, the five accused, who came on two-wheelers, knocked on the door of the survivor's residence and introduced themselves as police informants of the Peenya police station.

Accusing the woman of involving in prostitution and drug trafficking, they demanded Rs 1 lakh, and attacked the woman, her son and another man, with a cricket bat. They tied her son and the man in the washroom and robbed the victims of Rs 25,000 in cash and two mobile phones.

After that, they forcibly took the woman to an adjacent rented house, where they raped her. The police are checking if the house where the woman was raped was empty or were there any occupants. The police suspect that the house might have been taken on rent by one of the accused. The police are also checking if the survivor was known to the accused. The woman is undergoing treatment in a government hospital in Nelamangala. "Based on the complaint filed by the survivor, a case of gang rape and dacoity, along with other sections of BNS have been registered. All the accused are locals," CK Baba, Superintendent of Police of Bengaluru Rural district, told reporters.

KIDNAP ATTEMPT

RAILWAY POLICE RESCUE BABY IN SWIFT OPERATION

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Mysuru

IN a swift operation, the Railway Protection Force (RPF) at Mysuru Railway Station rescued a six-month-old baby and foiled a kidnapping attempt on Wednesday.

At 5.20 am on Wednesday, on-duty constable CM Nagaraju noticed a woman crying near the portico area of Mysuru Railway Station, frantically searching for her missing infant. The woman told the constable that her six-month-old son had disappeared, while the family was asleep on the station premises.

Acting immediately, Nagaraju alerted Assistant Sub-Inspector Prasi and Inspector Dinesh Kumar, following which, an RPF team quickly reviewed CCTV footage from the station.

The visuals revealed a woman, about 50-years-old, carrying an infant and walking towards Platform No. 6, apparently attempting to board Train No. 16206.

The alert RPF personnel rushed to the platform, intercepted the suspect, and rescued the baby before any harm could be done. The woman was taken to the RPF Post for inquiry, while the parents were immediately informed and reunited with their child.

After completing legal formalities, the accused was handed over to the Government Railway Police (GRP), who registered a case under Section 137(b) of the Bharatiya Nyaya Sanhita (BNS) and produced her before the court, which remanded her in judicial custody.

Constables to wear peak caps from next week

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Bengaluru

STARTING October 28, all constables and head constables serving in the Karnataka State Police Department will wear navy blue peak caps (P-CAP), as the currently used slouch hats are getting replaced.

The peak cap distribution programme will be held on October 28 at Vidhana Soudha in the presence of Chief Minister Siddaramaiah and Home Minister Dr G Parameshwara.

DG & IGP MA Saleem on Thursday issued a circular in this regard instructing all Police Commissionerates and Districts to nominate one Police Constable (PC) or Head Constable (HC) each to attend the programme. The government on August 6 had issued orders, replacing the currently-used slouch hats with navy blue peak caps for police constables and head constables in the state.

At the recent Senior Police Officers' Annual Conference, the state police had proposed green berets for constables. However, Chief Minister Siddaramaiah felt that the green berets resembled those worn by home guards and members of the Scouts and Guides, and suggested opting for blue peak caps instead.

The new design is modelled on the Telangana Police cap, chosen after reviewing cap styles from several states, including Maharashtra, Delhi, Goa, and Tamil Nadu. The slouch hat has been part of the constabulary uniform since the British era, but many officers find it outdated and uncomfortable. Replacing the slouch hats to peak caps was a long-standing proposal.

'ED can't attach properties pledged to obtain loans fraudulently'

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Bengaluru

THE Karnataka High Court upheld the order passed by the Appellate Tribunal, which quashed the orders of attachment passed by the Enforcement Directorate (ED) and the confirmation order passed by the Adjudicating Authority, regarding the attachment of the properties which were pledged by the borrowers to obtain credit from a bank.

The high court said that the properties which can prima facie be said to be the properties acquired from the proceeds of the crime can only be subjected to the attachment proceedings under the Prevention of Money Laundering Act (PMLA). The properties offered as collateral security against the loans, which have been found not to be sufficient, could not be described as proceeds of crime as defined under Section 2(u) of the PMLA. These properties had not been acquired from the proceeds of the crime and cannot be confiscated by the Centre, the court added.

The division bench of Justice D K Singh and Justice Venkatesh Naik T passed the order by dismissing the appeals filed by the ED against the order dated September 18, 2017, passed by the Tribunal under the PMLA on the appeals filed by the accused challenging the provisional attachment of properties and confirmation.

Guest lecturers paid less than clerks, sweepers

They get Rs 14,000 for 15 hours a week, while sweepers get Rs 18,000 and clerks get Rs 43,000

RASHMI PATIL @ Bengaluru

WHILE the Karnataka government boasts of providing quality education for undergraduate and Pre-University College students, guest lecturers at government degree colleges as well as PU colleges continue to suffer due to low salaries, lack of job security and provision for maternity leave, and even unavailability of basic facilities like toilets. There are over 11,000 guest lecturers in government degree colleges and 4,689 in PU colleges.

Some guest lecturers told TNIE that their salaries are lower than what lower division clerks and permanent sweepers at the degree and PU colleges are paid. Arif Karle, a guest lecturer who has over 20 years of experience and has worked in a government degree college in Hassan, explained, "The minimum salary for a PUC guest lecturer is Rs 32,000 for a candidate who is qualified as per UGC norms -- PhD or NET/SLET/KCET with no teaching experience in a government college. Teaching experience in private college does not count. It is Rs 36,000 if you have 10 years of teaching experience with a masters degree or MPhil, and Rs 40,000 for a PhD candidate with teaching experience. This salary is lower compared to the salary of a lower division clerk who draws Rs 43,000, including dearness allowance, medical facilities etc."

Similarly, the salary of guest lecturers in PU government colleges is lower than what permanent sweepers and attenders get. Rajesh Bhat, a guest lecturer at a PU government college in Bengaluru, said, "Our salaries are Rs 14,000 per month and the number of working hours is 15 per week. However, the minimum salary of permanent sweepers and attenders is Rs 18,000 and maximum depends on their years of service. To top it, we don't have job security as every year, the government appoints freshers on the list of guest lecturers. Earlier, teaching experience was given more importance than marks scored by lecturers in academics. Now, lecturers are appointed as guest faculty every year based on highest marks scored in academics."

Dr R Keshavan, former dean at the department of Science and Tech, Mysore University, who has mentioned the low salaries of guest lecturers in comparison to permanent sweepers and lower division clerks in his book titled India is Crumbling under its Policies and Corruption, said that implementation of the 7th or 8th Pay Commission would leave guest lecturers without salaries, unless the government cuts 25 per cent of salaries of government employees.

Not only salary, the state government has made it mandatory for guest lecturers also to follow UGC norms in terms of qualification. Sunitha S, president, All India College and University Teachers Association- Non Regular (AICUTA-NR), said, "Making these norms mandatory for us has added to our woes. As per the earlier UGC norms, a candidate who got MPhil degree on or before July 11, 2009, would be exempt from NET for the appointment of assistant professors. Now, UGC has discontinued MPhil with PhD as mandatory. We have been working for 25 years, these norms shouldn't apply to us unless our jobs are regularised or treated as state government employees until the age of 60, like they have done in West Bengal."

She added, "Once in five years, if UGC keeps changing rules, many of us will be unemployed. On the basis of MPhil qualification, 2,800 lecturer jobs were regularised a few years ago. Of these, 881 lecturers are working in 432 government colleges as professors and associate professors. They are paid over Rs 1.5 lakh salary. However, our MPhil qualification was not even considered. Why are UGC norms not applied to these lecturers? Besides, 493 principals in 432 colleges have only masters degree, including MSc, MCom, and are drawing salaries of Rs 2 lakh, as per UGC norms. These people were recruited at the same time when we started working."

Private schools have to renew recognition online this year

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @Bengaluru

THE Department of School Education and Literacy has invited applications from private schools for renewal of recognition through the online mode this year. As per the notification issued on Tuesday, physical applications will not be accepted. Renewal of recognition for schools is a process of re-applying to the relevant government education authority to maintain the school's legal and operational status. Therefore, the department has made it mandatory for the schools to submit updated reports on infrastructure, staff, finances and to comply with safety and curriculum requirements.

Lokesh Talikote, President, Recognised and Unaided Private Schools Association (RUPSA), said, "We welcome the decision of the education department but they should have released this notification in the beginning of the academic year in April or May. Now that the education department has released this notification in November, schools will not be able to complete this online process in a month's time. As a result, the schools will go unrecognised by the department which would impact teachers, children and parents."

Lokesh highlighted that it is mandatory for schools to get an NOC from the fire safety department that certifies that the school has all measures of fire safety. "The Supreme Court has directed that there is no need to get fire safety NOC for buildings less than 15 meters. But the school department has made it mandatory to get NOC for all the school buildings this time," he said.

He also alleged that last time when RR notification was released, the officials took bribes from school authorities to renew their recognition. He said, "We have submitted most of these bribe cases along with evidences to the higher officials in the department itself. No action was taken against them. This time, again the department with this new notification is making way for more corruption."

A bull-taming event being held in Haveri district on Wednesday | EXPRESS

Three killed in bull attacks in Haveri dist

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Haveri

THREE persons, including two elderly men, were killed in separate bull attacks during traditional bull-taming events and processions held in different parts of Haveri district on Wednesday. The deceased have been identified as Chandrashekhar Kodihalli (71) of Daneshwar Nagar in Haveri, Ghanisab Bankapur (74) of Devihosur village, and Bharath Hingameri (24) of Tilavalli in Hangal taluk.

Yashodha Vantagodi, Superintendent of Police, Haveri, said two people were killed during bull-taming events, while another person died after being attacked during a festive procession. "No permission was granted by the police for any such events. All three cases have been registered under respective police station limits, and action will be taken against the organisers based on investigation," she said.

According to police, the victims were either walking along the road or standing nearby when the bulls, which were part of competitions and processions, went out of control and charged at the crowd.

In Devihosur village, a bull participating in a procession suddenly panicked and attacked Ghanisab, who was seated on a platform.

He sustained severe injuries to his neck and chest and died on the spot. In Hangal taluk, Bharath Hingameri suffered fatal head injuries after being tossed by a charging bull. Every year, traditional bull races and processions are organised across Haveri during major festivals.

Ex-admin officer Murari Babu held in Sabari scam

He was arrested from his Kottayam home

SHANAS @ T'Puram

MOVING to the next stage in the probe into the Sabarimala gold theft, the SIT has arrested former Sabarimala administrative officer B Murari Babu, an accused in the case. He was taken into custody from his house at Perunna in Changanassery on Wednesday night and brought to Thiruvananthapuram, where his arrest was recorded after interrogation. On Thursday evening, Murari was produced before the Ranni Judicial First Class Magistrate court, which remanded him in 14-day judicial custody. Noticeably, the SIT didn't ask for his custody.

The remand report said Murari had consciously mentioned the gold-plated sheets as copper sheets in Sabarimala records, sources said. He had also written to former Sabarimala executive officer D Sudheesh Kumar, recommending Unnikrishnan Potti, the prime accused, to conduct electroplating of gold on the copper sheets of dwarapalaka idols and the sheets placed in the corners of the sanctum sanctorum.

SIT had collected incriminating evidence against Murari and some other devaswom board officials who were arraigned in the case. It was based on the findings that Murari was taken into custody. The SIT had found that some of the accused, including Murari and Sudheesh, had allegedly played a role in the subterfuge. The act of mentioning the gold-plated sheets as copper sheets, the SIT assessed, was deliberate and done to facilitate the fraud. Sudheesh, sources said, is also under the scanner as he had recommended the then devaswom board commissioner to permit Potti to plate gold on the sheets stripped off from the artifacts. Sudheesh too in his communique had recorded the sheets as copper, which suggests that the act was orchestrated, they said.

HC bars use of temple funds for complexes

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Chennai

HOLDING that temple funds cannot be utilised for constructing commercial or residential buildings, the Madras High Court on Thursday directed the Commissioner of the Hindu Religious and Charitable Endowments (HR&CE) Department to issue circulars to all temple authorities in this regard. The first bench of Chief Justice Manindra Mohan Shrivastava and Justice G Arul Murugan issued the directive while hearing a PIL petition filed by A B Palani of Villivakkam, Chennai.

The petitioner sought a direction restraining the authorities from constructing commercial or residential complexes on lands owned by the deity, Muthukumaraswamy of Kandhakottam, using the temple's funds.

Counsel for the petitioner submitted that the court had earlier ruled that surplus temple funds should not be diverted for construction of commercial complexes and that such funds may be used only for purposes expressly provided under Section 66 of the HR&CE Act, 1955.

He contended that despite this, the department had been raising commercial and residential buildings in violation of the order by using funds belonging to the Kandhakottam deity.

Advocate General P S Raman informed the court that 80% of the work had already been completed and that the project, which involved an investment of Rs 7 crore, could generate a monthly revenue of Rs 7 lakh.

Permitting the department to proceed with the construction, the bench added a rider that "such facilities shall be used only for devotees." It further directed the HR&CE Commissioner to issue a circular to all temple authorities instructing them not to use temple funds for building commercial complexes.

Decoy operation foils sex determination racket near Mysuru, 3 arrested

KARTHIK K K @ Mysuru

IN a meticulously planned operation using a decoy, officials of the Mandya and Mysuru District Health and Family Welfare Department busted a foetal sex determination and abortion racket being run from a bungalow on the outskirts of Mysuru, leading to the arrest of three people.

The operation was led by Dr Mohan, District Health Officer (DHO) of Mandya, with the assistance of Mysuru DHO Dr C Kumaraswamy following specific intelligence about a middleman arranging illegal sex determination tests. Speaking to TNIE, Dr Mohan revealed that the operation was launched after a pregnant woman reported late for her health checkup at a primary health care centre in Nagamangala taluk of Mandya. "Her delay in obtaining the 'taayi card' raised suspicions. She revealed that she had previously given birth to a girl and wanted a boy this time and said she had undergone a sex determination test in Mysuru." Acting on this tip-off and obtaining a contact number, they devised a decoy operation with the help of another pregnant woman. The decoy contacted a middleman named Swamy, explaining that she already had two daughters and was unwilling to have another girl. He agreed to help, instructing her to be present near Teresian College in Mysuru.

Health department officials who undertook the decoy operation

"He had offered to arrange a fetal sex determination scan for a fee of Rs 30,000 which included scanning for sex determination and abortion," the DHO said. Around 12 noon on Wednesday, Swamy picked up the decoy and drove towards Mellahalli Circle before heading to Hunuganahalli village. Around 3 pm, the team raided a newly built bungalow 'Shivananda Paramahamsa Nilaya' where they found the decoy and several other pregnant women. It was revealed that the house owner, Shyamala, a trained nurse, was allegedly running the illegal operation with the help of her husband and an associate. Medical instruments, syringes, abortion pills, and hospital records linked to the Mysuru-based private hospital were seized.

Mysuru DHO Dr Kumaraswamy urged police to take strict action. Sources said that a person who had previously been involved in a similar sex detection racket in Mandya and who is currently on bail, is the mastermind behind this gang as well and his movements are being tracked.

NOVA, Tata Elxsi to develop Kavach 4.0 in Bengaluru

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Bengaluru

BENGALURU-based NOVA Control Tecnologix, a deep-tech subsidiary of e2E Transportation Infrastructure Limited, on Thursday announced its official launch as India's full-stack Rail Original Equipment Manufacturer (OEM). NOVA is in a strategic partnership with Tata Elxsi to co-develop Kavach 4.0, the next generation of India's indigenous Automatic Train Protection (ATP) system.

Speaking at the launch, IT-BT Minister Priyank Kharge said, "We have nearly a lakh kilometres of railway network and over eight billion journeys a year. In the past decade, we've had close to 800 accidents, over 2,500 injuries, and about a thousand lives lost — lives that could have been saved. What has been built here today can revolutionise not just Indian Railways but rail systems globally."

"The technology and product unveiled today offer immense value to Indian Railways. With Kavach 4.0 already rolled out on 1,600km and set to cover 100,000km in the next few years, I urge NOVA, e2E Rail and Indian Railways to consider setting up a Centre of Excellence for Railway Mobility here in Karnataka," he stated.

Speaking during the launch, CEO Sourajit Mukherjee said, "With NOVA, we are setting a new benchmark — for the first time in India, a signalling system integrator has also become an original equipment manufacturer... Kavach is not just another product; it is a national mission to make train travel in India safer than ever before," he added.

Kavach 4.0, India's indigenously developed Automatic Train Protection system, is designed to enhance safety as train speeds increase.

The system comprises three subsystems — stationary, onboard, and a backbone communication network — ensuring real-time coordination between trains and signals. "If a loco overspeeds or crosses its limit, Kavach automatically applies brakes," explained a design engineer, while a design lead added that its "two-out-of-two CPU design" and diversified hardware-software architecture ensures the highest safety integrity. Kavach integrates safety, communication and intelligence into one compact system, stated the designers.

MP sponsors 9 SSLC toppers for Delhi edu tour

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Davanagere

NINE SSLC toppers of government high schools in Davanagere parliamentary constituency, which encompasses Harihar, Honnali, Channagiri, Davanagere North and South, Jagaluru, Mayakonda and Harapanahalli, are set to embark on an educational excursion to New Delhi.

The primary objective of this tour is to elevate the aspirations of students enrolled in government high schools, encouraging them to envision grander ambitions and realise them.

Member of Parliament Dr Prabha Mallikarjun is committed to increasing the capacity of government schools, and this tour programme is a vital component of her initiative. She said a majority of students reside in rural areas, relying on government institutions for their educational pursuits. If influential people demonstrate their commitment to enhancing these students' self-esteem, there will be no shortage of enrolment in these schools.

Strengthening government schools will indirectly lead to increased admissions, thereby unveiling the latent talents of the nation, Dr Prabha told TNIE.

She added, "Initially, we intended to send eight top-performing SSLC students from government high schools; however, with two exceptional students identified in Honnali, we resolved to send both to New Delhi. All travel expenses, including airfare and accommodation, will be personally covered by me."

"I am confident that witnessing these accomplished children will invigorate the current batch of SSLC students, motivating them to study diligently and excel in their examinations," she added.

The students will take part in a five-day journey, visiting important landmarks such as India Gate, Kamal Mandir, Qutub Minar, Red Fort, Kartavya Path and Swamy Narayan Mandir. The nine students will be accompanied by both a male and a female teacher. They will depart from Hubbali Airport on Monday, said Dr Prabha.

The MP is personally overseeing the expedition of these children, insisting that while monetary rewards may fade from memory, an experience of this nature will remain etched in their minds forever.

The students are P Manjunath, Dhanush, K P Pavan Kumar, Jeshta B, Amrutha T M, Mizba Naz, Usha H, Latha H A and Yogeshwari J B, accompanied by teachers B Arun Kumar and K M Ningamma.

90% work on Gaganyaan mission completed: ISRO

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @Bengaluru

INDIAN Space Research Organisation (ISRO) Chairman V Narayanan on Thursday said 90 per cent of the work on India's maiden human spaceflight mission, the first Gaganyaan mission which is under development, has been completed. The first of the three uncrewed missions will be undertaken in December.

Speaking to reporters on the sidelines of the event to promote the November 3-5 scheduled Emerging Science, Technology, and Innovation Conclave (ESTIC-2025) in New Delhi, Narayanan stressed on the safety of the astronauts being crucial while undertaking the main crewed mission which is now scheduled for the first quarter of 2027. "Safety of astronauts in space is crucial and thus each test is being extensively conducted...a lot of technology development has to take place – the rocket has to be human-rated, the orbital module has to be developed, and the environmental control safety system has to be developed. Then coming to the crew escape system, parachute system and then, of course, there are the human-centric products," he said.

"Three uncrewed missions have to be accomplished before going for the crewed mission and we are working towards it. In the first uncrewed mission, Vyommitra (the humanoid) is going to fly and we are working towards that to accomplish the crewed mission by the beginning of 2027," he said.

ISRO completed the first integrated air drop test for Gaganyaan at the Satish Dhawan Space Centre in Sriharikota on August 24. This was a successful demonstration of the critical parachute-based deceleration system of the crew module for the Gaganyaan mission. In a simulated rehearsal of the splashdown when the astronauts return to Earth post the mission, a module was lifted off using a helicopter to an altitude three kilometers and released before deploying nine parachutes for a successful splashdown in the Bay of Bengal, he explained. Narayanan said work on the next generation launchers is ongoing, and the Prime Minister had set targets to work on the crewed lunar mission. "We are in the conceiving phase and design phase for a lift off mass of 75,000-80,000Kg. This will have three stage rockets, to take man to Moon and bring them back safely," he said, adding that work to launch the first module of Bharatiya Antriksh Station (BAS), India's first space station weighing 52 tonnes, is on and is scheduled for 2028. On India's indigenous satellite navigation system – Navigation with Indian Constellation (NavIC) –Narayanan said there have been some setbacks but now all works are in place. A total of seven satellites are needed to complete the constellation and facilitate the navigation satellite system. "Of this, four are in orbit and three more need to be launched. The first of the three will be launched before the end of this financial year and in the next one-and-half years. The remaining will be launched in a gap of six months each," he said.

NISAR MISSION COMPONENTS IN PLACE

On the July 30-launched NASA-ISRO Synthetic Aperture Radar (NISAR) mission, Narayanan said two Synthetic Aperture Radars-S-Band and L-Band, developed by ISRO and NASA along with the 12 metre antenna are in place. "It is undergoing calibrations and in another 10-15 days, it will be declared operational. The satellite is healthy and both payloads are fantastically working. Once launched a lot of applications will be in place, helping multiple sectors," he said.

Narayanan said the Central government had approved Chandrayaan-4, which is aimed at bringing back samples from the lunar soil and environment. While designing activities are ongoing, approval has also been obtained for Chandrayaan-5, the Lunar Pole Exploration (Lupex) mission in collaboration with Japan Aerospace Exploration Agency (Jaxa).

FCRI develops breakthrough technique to revive rare Poniki tree

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Hyderabad

IN a major scientific breakthrough, researchers at the Forest College and Research Institute (FCRI), Mulugu, have successfully developed an improved germination technique for Givotia rottleriformis (Poniki Chetulu in Telugu), a rare tree species crucial to the famous Nirmal handicraft industry. The innovation promises to revive dwindling populations of the species and support the livelihoods of hundreds of artisan families. Givotia rottleriformis, locally known as Poniki, is renowned for its soft and lightweight wood, ideal for crafting toys, figurines, lacquered artefacts, and traditional art pieces that hold the Geographical Indication (GI) tag of Nirmal,

Telangana. However, its natural populations have sharply declined due to poor regeneration, seed dormancy, and habitat degradation, making the species increasingly difficult to cultivate. The breakthrough was achieved by Maloth Mounika, MSc research scholar, under the guidance of Dr Reeja Sundaram, assistant professor, Department of Tree Breeding and Improvement at FCRI. Their newly developed protocol, pending patent approval, has successfully enhanced seed germination rates to 75-80%, overcoming long-standing challenges posed by the tree's hard, water-impermeable seed coat and prolonged dormancy. Speaking about the achievement, the Dean of FCRI, V Krishna, IFS, stated, "This achievement reflects FCRI's commitment to blending scientific innovation with cultural preservation for socio-economic development of forest-based industries and communities. Reviving Givotia rottleriformis is not just about protecting a native tree species; it is about sustaining the livelihoods of artisan communities and preserving Telangana's unique heritage. We are proud that our young researchers are contributing solutions of national importance."

The species had sharply declined due to poor regeneration| EXPRESS

Givotia rottleriformis is native to dry deciduous forests of Telangana, Andhra Pradesh, Karnataka, Tamil Nadu, Maharashtra, Kerala, and Sri Lanka, where it thrives in rocky and degraded landscapes. Beyond its utility in woodcraft, the species is valued in traditional medicine for its anti-psoriatic, anti-inflammatory, and antimicrobial properties.

Consequently, my client has also not received the alleged purchase money from the aforesaid Bhimaraju. Armed with the above illegally created GPA, it appears that the said Bhimaraju, created a registered sale deed dated 03/09/2025 vide document No: DNH-1-10310/2025-26 alienating the Property on his name and is now seriously trying to encumber/alienate the Property to prospective buyers, claiming himself to be the lawful owner of the Property. As no GPA is actually executed by my Client and the one created by the said G.S.Bhimaraju is a fraudulent document, my client is advised to initiate legal action/s following this publication. Hence, the General Public/realtors and developers are hereby cautioned/informed, not to transact with the above said G.S.Bhimaraju or with anybody claiming under or through him for securing any rights, title or interest over the Property, belonging to my client. Inspite of this notice, if anyone try to transact or enter into any conveyance /transaction with the said G.S.Bhimaraju, they will be doing so at their own risk and peril, and the same will not be binding on my client, and they will also be liable for all penal and legal actions initiated by my client, and also liable for damages and compensation.

EXTRADITIONS FORCE INDIA TO CONFRONT ITS PRISON REALITIES

INDIA'S recent affidavit before a Belgian court, outlining the facilities awaiting fugitive businessman Mehul Choksi at Mumbai's Arthur Road Jail, underscores how detention conditions now shape international extradition decisions. The document described a well-ventilated and monitored cell with natural light, fans, and an attached toilet—features intended to assure that Choksi would be kept in humane conditions if extradited. Such assurances are not new. In July, a British Crown Prosecution Service team inspected Delhi's Tihar Jail in light of concerns raised by their courts. The team interacted with inmates to verify that the jail could house individuals like Vijay Mallya or Nirav Modi in a secure, livable environment—a reflection of how such concerns have repeatedly delayed or complicated high-profile extraditions.

Ironically, countries that demand such guarantees have their own challenges. Belgium, for one, has been criticised for severe overcrowding. An investigative report in the New Lines Magazine this year found that cells meant for one often hold three or four inmates, who sleep on the floor and share a toilet. Prison reform groups note that Belgium has repeatedly failed to provide the minimum of 4 sq m of space per prisoner.

However, it's also undeniable that India's prisons remain under severe strain. Overcrowded cells, unhygienic conditions, and scarce medical care continue to shape daily life for most inmates. Nearly three-fourths of them are undertrials, compounding the injustice in indignity. Various committees have recommended measures to check overcrowding since 1957. Rights organisations have also repeatedly raised this concern, but with little effect. The government, while not oblivious of the reasons for systemic decay, seems more focused on ensuring that inadequate facilities do not derail future extraditions. That's perhaps why it recently directed all states to build special cells to handle "Choksi-like" situations.

If anything, India should study the basic living standards in select foreign prisons and improve the domestic conditions. The jails that are there are almost impossible to expand. The way forward is to develop new, well-planned prison complexes outside cities—like the Mandoli Complex, which is decongesting Tihar Jail—with facilities that meet humane standards not only for those whose cases attract global attention, but for every inmate. A justice system earns credibility not through exceptional promises to foreign courts, but through the everyday preservation of dignity behind every locked door.

TEMPLE LOOT BETRAYS FAITH, VIOLATES SANCTITY

TEMPLES are a symbol of faith. It's the conviction in their divinity that draws believers. Actions that violate the sanctity of a place of worship, like the theft of assets, strike at the core of this trust and amount to betrayal of faith. With two of Kerala's richest temples—Sabarimala and Guruvayur—reporting misappropriation of assets, including looting of precious gold donated by devotees, questions are being raised about preserving the sanctity of these shrines and the state-run boards' ability to protect the temples they are tasked to administer.

First, it was Sabarimala, where a complaint about the removal of gold cladding of dwarapalaka idols exposed a serious irregularity. It was revealed that the gold on the idols and doors was replaced with gold-plated copper panels—with the alleged involvement of a dubious sponsor and some officials—in 2019. The panels were again removed, without approval, in 2025. Then came the audit report on the Guruvayur Sree Krishna Temple, which revealed misappropriation to the tune of ₹25 crore between 2019 and 2021. The audit highlighted the lack of proper records of offerings, including gold and silver, and other assets at the famous temple.

More than 3,000 temples in Kerala, both big and small, are managed by five devaswom boards that are effectively under the control of the state government. The boards are run by political nominees, giving the party in power more than a say in administering these temples. The Travancore Devaswom Board, which manages Sabarimala, has 1,248 temples under its control. The Guruvayur Devaswom Board manages 12 temples. There have been allegations of fraud across boards, highlighting the need for proper investigation, stricter monitoring, and a relook at the current system of administration.

The revelation of irregularities at Sabarimala and Guruvayur has rightly triggered a clamour to audit other temples run by devaswom boards. The issue clearly lies in mismanagement and opacity in handling donations, earnings, and assets that facilitate corruption and systemic loot. There's no doubt that top temple officials and their political bosses are aware of the state of affairs. Faith certainly has a role in protecting temple assets and sanctity; the lack of it can be a motivation for corruption. Keeping politicians and their men away from temple precincts may go a long way in ending corruption.

QUICK TAKE

IN THE HERE & NOW

BAEK Se-hee, whose memoir I Want to Die but I Want to Eat Tteokbokki generated a global conversation about depression since its publication in 2018, has died of unrevealed causes at age 35. The South Korean's memorable account of her conversations with her therapist touched a nerve, especially among Millennials and Gen Z. Her battle between depression and the small pleasures of life—like eating tteokbokki, a spicy Korean stir-fried rice cake—was a condition many could relate to. In an era where insular online lives foster disproportionate aspirations, her effort to recognise the everyday things that made her happy is worth practising. Another admirable trait: her decision to donate her cadaver, which reportedly saved five lives.

Non-communicable diseases are the leading cause of death and disease around the world. But the US has torpedoed a new UN plan to tackle them that had been painstakingly negotiated

FIGHTING THE BLIGHT OF THE CENTURY CREEPING UP ON US

K SRINATH REDDY

COMMON threats to global development and security call for a concerted global thrust to counter them. This is widely recognised in case of public health emergencies such as Covid-19. An escalating disruption like climate change is seen as an imminent threat since its malign manifestations are already ravaging Earth.

However, there are also 'slow motion' public health emergencies, which have surged over time but now call for urgent action to stem their advancing tide. Without a determined global response, such threats can prematurely end millions of human lives and derail economies. Non-communicable diseases (NCDs) are one example of such an alarming threat. Continued neglect of NCDs will become the blight of the 21st century.

Even at the end of the 20th century, it was clear that NCDs were the leading cause of death and disease globally, not only in high income countries but also in most of the low-, and middle-income countries. Among them, cardiovascular disease was dominant (heart attacks and strokes), followed by cancer, respiratory disease and diabetes. Tobacco claimed over 6 million lives a year, mostly in LMICs.

Yet, the United Nations' Millennium Development Goals framed in 2000 made no mention of NCDs or tobacco control. This was because those goals were scripted by rich countries that held that they had the resources to deal with NCDs, while poorer nations should worry more about health challenges like communicable diseases, and maternal and child health disorders.

Wisdom dawned by 2011, when the UN convened a high-level meeting of heads of government on the prevention and control of NCDs. By then, it had become abundantly clear that NCDs and mental health posed a global threat, affecting even the poor among countries and the poor within countries. A target was set to reduce premature mortality due to NCDs (deaths between 30 and 70 years) by 25 percent by 2025. This was later modified in the Sustainable Development Goals to target a one-third reduction in premature deaths by 2030. Mental health disorders, another growing but hitherto neglected global threat, were coupled with NCDs.

The need for effective action on this cluster had grown more urgent by the time the 4th UN high-level meeting on NCDs was convened in September 2025. It was noted that in 2021, NCDs caused over 43 million deaths, with most premature deaths occurring in the poorer nations.

It was also noted that mental health conditions are a major contributor to severe disability. Over a billion people worldwide live with mental health disorders, but a majority of them do not receive the needed care. So, September's UN meeting proposed to set targets and redefine strategies to curb deaths and distress due to NCDs and mental health disorders. These included proposals to address major risk factors like tobacco use, harmful use of alcohol, unhealthy diets and physical inactivity. The draft declaration called for:

- Encouraging at least 80 percent of member states to implement excise taxes on tobacco, alcohol, and sugar-sweetened beverages at World Health Organization-recommended levels.
- Improving the integration of NCD and mental health care into primary health care for equitable access to diagnosis, treatment, and care.
- Access to medicines and technologies needed for care of NCDs and mental health disorders.
- Financial protection (through universal health coverage programmes) for those seeking needed care.
- Multi- sectoral collaboration to address the determinants of health which drive NCDs.
- Placing people living with NCDs and mental health conditions at the centre of prevention and control efforts.
- Tracking progress in implementation on targets set by them.

At forums like the UN, political declarations are adopted by consensus and not by voting. A painstakingly negotiated political declaration, with overwhelming support from the vast majority of UN members, failed to win formal endorsement because the US torpedoed it. Now the resolution will be placed before the UN General Assembly, where it will face a vote. While scores of presidents, prime ministers and health ministers hailed the draft, US Health Secretary Robert Kennedy Jr charged that the UN draft went too far in recommending measures like increased taxes on unhealthy products.

Disengagement of the US from global health agreements is not new, in recent years it has disrupted attempts to catalyse convergent actions by all countries to collectively tackle major health challenges. The US this year withdrew from the WHO for the second time under a Trump administration. It withdrew from the pandemic treaty that is being negotiated under auspices of the WHO.

With the principal American agency for international funding (USAID) shuttered and the two lead science agencies (National Institutes of Health and Centers for Disease Control and Prevention) forbidden from conducting collaborative studies or exchanging technical information with scientists from other countries, the present US administration has effectively severed links with global health.

In the past too, the US refused to abide by the norms adopted by global consensus reached via multilateral negotiations. It did not sign the WHO Framework Convention on Tobacco Control after it was adopted by the World Health Assembly in 2003. Though it did sign it in 2004, it did not ratify it through a congressional process. Thus, the US is not legally bound by the treaty's provisions. Ditto for the UN Convention on the Rights of the Child.

Signing merely conveys intent to examine the treaty domestically and 'consider ratification', but it doesn't create a legally binding obligation. This is strange since it has been a tradition for all chief executives of UNICEF to be from the US since its establishment as the lead global child health agency in 1947, with its headquarters in New York.

If a country heading the world's premier child health organisation does not respect global consensus on child rights, it signals a cynical disdain for multilateral agreements in international relations. The recent shattering of consensus on NCDs fits a pattern.

TAKE AI'S HELP FOR SPEEDY JUSTICE

ADITYA SINHA

Public policy professional

FEW phrases encapsulate the despair of the Indian litigant more powerfully than Sunny Deol's anguished outburst in Damini: "Tareekh pe tareekh" (hearing after hearing). It has become a cultural shorthand for the chronic paralysis of our judicial system, endless adjournments, interminable delays and an ever-mounting docket of cases. It is a significant erosion of the constitutional covenant that justice shall be 'accessible, effective and timely'.

The consequences extend beyond individual hardship. A significant portion of these are civil disputes on the enforceability of contracts, sanctity of property rights, and predictability of commercial relations. Their prolonged pendency corrodes business confidence, undermines the ease of doing business, and exacts a measurable toll on India's economic growth.

Judicial efficiency itself remains a serious concern. One promising pathway to address this lies in the adoption of artificial intelligence—not as a panacea, but as a force multiplier to streamline processes, reduce delays, and assist judges in decision-making without compromising judicial wisdom.

Civil disputes form the bulk of pendency and have the most direct bearing on economic growth. AI deployment here must prioritise throughput and standardisation. For example, in case triage. Machine learning classifiers can categorise cases by complexity and urgency. China's 'intelligent case division' sorts routine matters into simplified workflows, while Estonia uses AI to automatically issue simple payment orders. In India, cheque dishonour matters—which constitute a significant share of criminal dockets, but are quasi-civil in nature—could be diverted to automated or semi-automated streams, freeing judges for complex disputes.

Second, automated document generation and verification. Language processing and character recognition systems can parse pleadings, identify defects, and auto-generate standardised drafts. The Hebei High Court in China processed 1.1 lakh cases and produced 7.8 lakh judicial documents in under a year with AI flagging defective filings at the threshold and ensuring compliance with codes.

The third is precedent recommendation and doctrinal consistency. Deep neural-network–based tools can extract fact patterns and push 'similar case' recommendations, as Shanghai's '206 system' does. In India, such systems could operationalise stare decisis by ensuring that high courts apply consistent standards in analogous disputes, directly addressing investor concerns about unpredictability in commercial litigation.

In criminal matters, AI must be tightly bound to preserve due process and dignity. Supervised machine-learning models have achieved high accuracy in predicting trial duration in Brazil's labour courts. Applied in India, such models could identify undertrial cases at risk of prolonged pendency, enabling judicial prioritisation.

AP

> The Indian judiciary can expand the use of artificial intelligence to act as a force multiplier in streamlining processes, sorting cases, and assisting judges in decision-making. They can be especially useful in civil disputes and in the lower judiciary, where the bulk of pendency lies

However, one must remember, an AI model is only as sound as the data that trains it, and when that data reflects existing social or institutional biases, the system's recommendations will inevitably replicate and even amplify them. Studies from the US, for example, revealed that black defendants were disproportionately labelled as 'high risk' compared to white defendants with similar records. Scholars such as Solon Barocas and Andrew Selbst described this in 2016 as the 'ratchet effect', where historical inequalities are encoded into algorithmic decision-making. For this reason, AI in the judiciary must always be treated as advisory, subjected to rigorous bias audits, and deployed with full human oversight.

Third, speech recognition and evidence retrieval systems can transcribe proceedings, surface relevant exhibits, and push case-law prompts in real time. For Indian courts, this could mean fewer adjournments due to incomplete records and improved accuracy for appellate scrutiny.

Another area where AI could be useful is with the language of judgements which citizens can understand. The Supreme Court in 2022 had to set aside yet another Himachal Pradesh High Court judgement for being, in its words, "utterly incomprehensible". One paragraph, for example, solemnly intoned: "However, the afore bar or embargo, against the institution, of the extant writ petition... is not a rigid or an absolute bar, rather it holds certain well expostulated exceptions", before meandering through five sub-clauses with little punctuation to spare.

If even seasoned judges in the apex court cannot decipher such prose, what chance does the common citizen have? AI tools, trained to flag verbosity and promote plain-language drafting, could be invaluable here; not to write judgements, but to remind the judiciary that clarity, not convolution, is the first duty of justice.

Finally, the best place to deploy AI would be the lower judiciary because it is here that the sheer weight of pendency is felt most acutely and where citizens first experience the justice system. Unlike appellate courts that deal with complex questions, trial courts are inundated with routine, high-volume matters, execution petitions, minor criminal trials, and civil disputes. These require speed, consistency, and procedural integrity more than doctrinal innovation. If the higher judiciary sets constitutional standards, it is the lower judiciary where AI can most tangibly turn the promise of 'speedy justice' into reality.

Localised waste

Ref: Waste land (Oct 22). I come from a small village where no one cares about waste segregation. Both waste collectors and generators lack proper knowledge about its management, so the blame game continues. The dumped waste is collected, and is dumped again in another area. It's merely a transfer from one place to another. I believe that decentralised waste management policies are needed for effective results.

From missile systems to advanced torpedoes, new acquisitions to bolster combat capability

MAYANK SINGH @ New Delhi

THE Defence Acquisition Council (DAC) met under the chairmanship of Defence Minister Rajnath Singhon Thursday and approved several proposals for the Army, Navy, and Air Force amounting to around ₹79,000 crore.

For the Army, the DAC granted the Acceptance of Necessity (AoN) for the procurement of the Nag Missile System (Tracked) Mk-II (NAMIS), Ground-Based Mobile ELINT (Electronic Intelligence) System (GBMES), and High Mobility Vehicles (HMVs) with Material Handling Crane.

According to the Ministry of Defence (MoD), the procurement of NAMIS (Tracked) will strengthen the Army's capability to neutralise enemy combat vehicles, bunkers, and other field fortifications. GBMES will provide round-the-clock electronic intelligence on enemy emitters, while HMVs will significantly improve logistic support to the forces across diverse terrains.

For the Indian Navy, AoN was granted for Landing Platform Docks (LPDs), 30mm Naval Surface Gun (NSG), Advanced Lightweight Torpedoes (ALWT), Electro-Optical Infra-Red Search and Track System, and Smart Ammunition for the 76mm Super Rapid Gun Mount.

The MoD said the LPDs will enable the Navy to conduct amphibious operations alongside the Army and the Air Force. "The integrated sea capability provided by LPD will also help the Navy to undertake peacekeeping operations, Humanitarian Assistance, and Disaster Relief, etc.," it added.

The 30mm NSG "will enhance the capability of the Indian Navy and Indian Coast Guard to conduct Low Intensity Maritime Operations & anti-piracy roles."

The Advanced Lightweight Torpedoes, developed indigenously by the Naval Science & Technological Laboratory, DRDO, are capable of targeting conventional, nuclear, and midget submarines.

For the Air Force, the DAC approved the Collaborative Long Range Target Saturation/Destruction System (CLRTS/DS) and other proposals. The CLRTS/DS can take off, land, navigate, detect targets, and deliver payloads autonomously in mission areas.

The Defence Acquisition Council is the highest decision-making body on defence policy and capital procurement in the country. Its approval of the Acceptance of Necessity (AoN) is the first step in the acquisition process.

EC fast-tracks process, directs state officials to make SIR preparations

MUKESH RANJAN @ New Delhi

THE Election Commission of India has instructed all the Chief Electoral Officers (CEOs) of the states and the Union Territories to finalise their preparations for the Special Intensive Revision (SIR) in their respective states/UTs at the earliest and report back to it, officials said on Thursday.

The instructions were passed on to them during a two-day conference of the CEOs here, which concluded on Thursday, and during the course of discussions, the presentations were given by senior officers of the ECI on the SIR process, as the CEOs raised several queries, which were clarified, they said.

The officials said that the commission also assessed the progress made on the directions previously issued to the CEOs to map the current electors with the electors as per the last SIR in their respective states and UTs.

The commission held special interactions on a one-on-one basis with the CEOs of poll-bound states and UTs, including Assam, Tamil Nadu, Puducherry, Kerala and West Bengal, the officials informed.

Nationwide exercise

This comes in the backdrop of CEC Gyanesh Kumar's announcement for a nationwide SIR, after the similar exercise was conducted in the poll-bound Bihar, where the total number of electors in the final list stands at 7.42cr, while there were 7.89cr electors as of June 24 this year. Most states had the last SIR between 2002 and 2004 and have nearly completed mapping of current electors as per last intensive revision.

The conference was presided over by Chief Election Commissioner Gyanesh Kumar in the presence of election commissioners Sukhbir Singh Sandhu and Vivek Joshi, they said, adding that the CEOs from across the country attended the conference. It was a follow-up to the SIR preparedness conference held on September 10, during which CEOs gave detailed presentations on the number of electors, the qualifying date of the last SIR and the electoral roll in their respective state and UT as per the last completed SIR.

This comes in the backdrop of CEC Gyanesh Kumar's announcement for a nationwide SIR, after the similar exercise was conducted in the poll-bound Bihar, where the total number of electors in the final list stands at 7.42 crore, while there were 7.89 crore electors as of June 24 this year.

A total of 65 lakh voters were removed from the draft list. In addition, 3.66 lakh ineligible electors were removed from the final list, while 21.53 lakh eligible electors were added through Form 6, taking the total to 7.42 crore voters.

Most states had the last SIR between 2002 and 2004 and have nearly completed mapping of current electors with those as per the last intensive revision. The EC had earlier said that after Bihar, SIR would be carried out in the entire country.

PM speaks to Malaysian PM, to virtually join ASEAN-India meet

JAYANTH JACOB @ New Delhi

INDIA and Malaysia announced on Thursday that Prime Minister Narendra Modi will join the ASEAN-India summit in Kuala Lumpur on October 26 virtually after a telephonic conversation between Modi and Malaysian PM Anwar Ibrahim.

"I had a warm conversation with my dear friend, Prime Minister Anwar Ibrahim of Malaysia. Congratulated him on Malaysia's ASEAN Chairmanship and conveyed best wishes for the success of the upcoming Summits. Look forward to joining the ASEAN-India Summit virtually and to further deepening the ASEAN-India Comprehensive Strategic Partnership," Modi said on X. Ibrahim said he respected Modi's decision, adding that Malaysia remained committed to advancing bilateral and ASEAN-India cooperation for a "more peaceful and prosperous region".

Narendra Modi

While the Indian statement did not cite reasons for Modi's decision to skip the regional gathering, it is learnt that the upcoming Bihar assembly elections and the absence of immediate breakthroughs in trade talks with the US influenced the move. US President Donald Trump is scheduled to visit Malaysia for the summit.

This newspaper had reported that Modi was unlikely to attend the summit and would address the event virtually. At the summit, both sides will review progress in ASEAN-India relations and discuss new initiatives under the Comprehensive Strategic Partnership. External Affairs Minister S Jaishankar will represent India at the 20th East Asia Summit in Kuala Lumpur on October 27.

Trump factor leads PM to duck Malaysia trip, says Cong

PARVEZ SULTAN @ New Delhi

THE Congress on Thursday claimed that the reason for Prime Minister Narendra Modi not travelling to Malaysia for the Asean summit was that he does not want to be cornered by US President Donald Trump. In a social media post, Congress general secretary in-charge communications Jairam Ramesh said that for the same reason, Modi had not attended the Gaza peace summit in Egypt a few weeks back.

"For days the speculation has been -- will he or won't he? Will Mr Modi go to Kuala Lumpur for the summit or not? Now it appears certain that the PM will not go. It means the loss of so many opportunities to hug and get photo ops with world leaders or to flaunt himself as the self-styled Vishwaguru," Jairam posted on 'X'.

"The reason why Mr Modi is not going easy. He just doesn't want to be cornered by President Trump who will also be there. He refused an invitation to attend the Gaza peace summit in Egypt a few weeks back, precisely for this reason," he said in the post.

More girls in govt-run CBSE schools, says secy

S LALITHA @ New Delhi

IT is crucial that society invest more in the education of the girl child, according to the Union Secretary of Education and Literacy, Sanjay Kumar.

Taking part in the interactive session, ₹Delhi Dialogues' with The New Indian Express in Delhi on Thursday, Kumar highlighted the scenario in CBSE schools to illustrate it, saying, "There are two types of CBSE schools, one is run by the government and the other is private. In the government CBSE schools, girls outnumber boys. Whereas, if you look at private CBSE schools, then boys outnumber girls by a huge margin."

Data shared by the Education department in this connection revealed that as on April 5, 2024, the number of boys attending private CBSE schools was nearly 25 lakh more than the number of girls attending them –1,16,22,447 boys versus 91,70,484 girls. In comparison, the number of girls attending government schools stood at 19,14,859 as against the figure of boys at 17,96,817.

Elaborating on the preferential treatment accorded to the male child, Secretary Kumar said, "There is a message for the society in this – we need to invest more in the girl child. We are more inclined to invest in boys than in girls. That is primarily for the middle class."

> 13,000 out of 1,70,000 suicides in 2022 were that of students, which represents 7.6% of the total. Shockingly, half the suicides in the country come from five States – Maharashtra, Tamil Nadu, Karnataka, West Bengal, and Madhya Pradesh —Sanjay Kumar, Education secretary

He added that this aspect needs to be incorporated into public discourse so corrective action can be taken.

As a case in point, he explained that three years ago, the difference in admissions between boys and girls in Kendriya Vidyalayas was around 1 lakh. "We spoke to the KV administration and sensitised the principals that boys and girls were equally important for us. The difference between the two genders is now reduced to 40,000. Boys are still in the majority, but it has come down from almost a lakh."

Stating that the threshold for mental resilience has dipped drastically, the Secretary said that 13,000 out of 1,70,000 suicides in 2022 were that of students, which represents 7.6% of the total.

Shockingly, half the suicides in the country come from five States – Maharashtra, Tamil Nadu, Karnataka, West Bengal, and Madhya Pradesh. The reasons for it need to be assessed. "It needs research and requires sociologists and perhaps even economists to look into," Kumar felt. "The coaching culture has put an immense amount of pressure on our children. And so has social media."

Emphasising that "No child should be out of school", the Secretary said that the process of learning must be a joyous experience. "Every morning when a child wakes up, they should look forward to going to school."

The National Education Policy 2020 aims to have every student eventually learn three languages. Learning in the local language is extremely important, and research shows that it improves children's cognitive abilities, he said.

"You start in your local language, and this is where you pick up things. And then, when you are proficient in one language, you pick up the second one. And this could be English or any other language. The NEP states that of the three languages you learn, two should be Indian languages."

Road freight traffic hits record high in H1 FY26

VISMAY BASU @ New Delhi

INDIA'S road freight activity surged in the first half of Financial Year (FY) 2025-26, which amounts to one of the sharpest expansions in recent years, and pointed to a broader revival in trade and industrial distribution. Data compiled by the Centre for Monitoring Indian Economy (CMIE) in its report "Road Freight Traffic Accelerates" shows that Goods and Services Tax (GST) e-way bills touched a record 754.4 million between April and September, up 21.8% year-on-year.

The momentum was particularly strong in September, which registered 132.1 mn e-way bills. This is the highest monthly total since the system's inception. The increase was visible across most states, indicating broad-based demand recovery rather than regional concentration. Parallel indicators point to heightened road activity. FASTag transactions under the National Electronic Toll Collection system rose to 2.2 bn during the period.

Toll collection volumes grew 13.5% year-on-year, compared with 10.9% in the same period a year earlier. What is perhaps more significant is that the toll revenues jumped 18.6%, reaching an unprecedented ₹404.3 million for the first half of the fiscal year, which is 26% higher than the average of the previous two years.

The sharper rise in revenue than in traffic volume suggests a shift in composition, with heavier and higher-paying freight vehicles forming a larger share of total movement. Put if differently, more goods are being transported per trip, and fleets are running at higher utilisation levels based on data.

Another supportive indicator is high-speed diesel (HSD) consumption, widely seen as an indicator for freight intensity. Diesel use in April–September 2025 stood at 45.7 million tonnes, up 2.9% from 44.4 million tonnes in the same period last year — when growth had slowed to just 0.9%. The rebound suggests that truck fleets are operating longer hauls and carrying fuller loads, underscoring the pick-up in goods movement across industries.

Trucking associations also reported fuller schedules and quicker turnaround times, consistent with the quantitative data. Nearly 70% of freight moves by road, the surge in e-way bills, toll receipts, and fuel consumption reflect wider economic implications. The logistics sector accounts for roughly 13% of India's GDP and employs millions, serving as both a driver and a mirror of industrial health. The rise in road activity reinforces expectations of robust GDP growth in the second quarter of FY2025–26.

However, analysts warn that the rebound remains heavily reliant on diesel-based transport, which exposes the economy to fuel price volatility and environmental costs. The logistics sector contributes around 13% of India's total greenhouse-gas emissions, with road freight responsible for most of it.

To address these structural challenges, the government aims to lower logistics costs from the current 13-14% of GDP to about 9%, while shifting more freight to rail and inland waterways. Achieving that balance of sustaining high growth while reducing carbon intensity will be key to ensuring that India's logistics boom remains both economically efficient and environmentally sustainable.

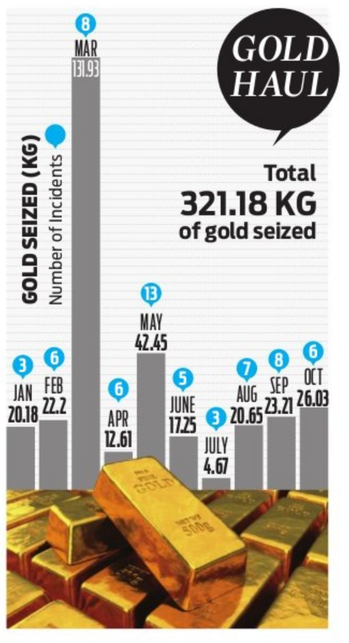
321kg gold smuggled through 7 main routes seized in 10 months, says DRI

SUMIT KUMAR SINGH @ New Delhi

THE Directorate of Revenue Intelligence (DRI) has uncovered an increasingly sophisticated gold smuggling operation spanning continents. Between January and October this year, DRI intercepted and seized around 321kg of smuggled gold, valued at ₹406.35 crore. The seizures, spread over 65 cases, point to a well-organised syndicate operating with military precision. Officials say these syndicates are well-funded and internationally coordinated, and have adapted rapidly to India's enforcement measures.

Director General of DRI, Abhai Kumar Srivastav, wrote to CBI Director Praveen Sood in April requesting an investigation into the gold smuggling nexus. The operation reportedly involves an international crime syndicate and a few government officials. Intelligence agencies estimate that for every kilogram intercepted, three to five kilograms successfully enter India.

Analysis of DRI seizure data by The New Indian Express shows clear patterns in both air and land-based smuggling. The air network operates through four main routes: Dubai-Mumbai, Bangkok-Ahmedabad, Bangkok-Kolkata, and a Middle East triangle covering Abu Dhabi, Sharjah, and Riyadh. Gold enters India through multiple airports, including Ahmedabad, Calicut, and Jaipur. The Dubai-Mumbai corridor is the largest, with over 18 incidents and 40 percent of total seizures. Bangkok routes and the Middle East triangle are also heavily used, with multiple entry points designed to evade law enforcement.



Land routes form a complex web. Gold enters through Myanmar via Manipur, Mizoram, and Tripura, then moves through railway hubs like Sealdah and Dum Dum in Kolkata before reaching Chhapra, Patna, Banaras, and Delhi. From Nepal, gold travels via New Delhi railway station to northern India. From Bangladesh, gold enters West Bengal by road and is then distributed by train.

Two troubling trends have emerged. Around 25 percent of passenger-based smuggling uses rectal and internal body concealment, with gold capsules or small bars ingested. The syndicate also uses people facing financial distress from countries such as Thailand, Iran, Turkey, Brazil, Chad, and even the US as couriers. Many get caught because of language barriers. Officials warn that gold smuggling in India is rampant and call for upgraded law enforcement technology and stronger international cooperation to tackle these organised syndicates.

• INDIA bloc bets on Dy CM face Mukesh Sahani to make dent in EBC vote base of NDA • PM tells party workers to reach out to new voters

Rise and rise of 'Son of Mallah' in Bihar political potboiler

RAMASHANKAR @ Patna

THE INDIA bloc has finally yielded ground to Vikassheel Insaan Party (VIP) chief Mukesh Sahani, who was on Thursday formally announced as deputy chief ministerial face of the Opposition alliance for the Bihar Assembly elections.

It has been a meteoric rise for 44-year-old Sahani. Starting as a Bollywood set designer, he chose politics as his next career, formed a new party in 2018, contested 2020 Assembly elections as part of NDA and finally ended up as a hard bargainer in the 2025 state polls.

Sahani's party has no MLA in the 243-member Bihar Assembly. Better known as 'Son of Mallah', Sahani is now with INDIA bloc comprising the RJD, Congress and three Left parties—CPI-ML, CPI, CPI(M). He comes from Mallah (fishermen) community, an EBC, which constitutes nearly 2.5% of Bihar's population, as per the caste survey conducted in 2022-23. Mallahs, Sahanis and Nishads constitute nearly 9% of the state's population. The VIP chief is expected to tilt their votes towards the INDIA bloc.

Mallahs, a sub-caste of Nishad community, are spread across the state but have influence in certain constituencies in north Bihar, particularly Mithilanchal and Seemanchal regions. Muzaffarpur, Darbhanga, Supaul, Vaishali, Sitamarhi, Sheohar, Kishanganj, Saharsa, Khagaria, East Champaran and West Champaran are among districts where fishermen have sizeable population. Elated over being named as INDIA bloc's deputy CM face, Sahani targeted BJP, saying, "BJP ko jab tak hum todenge nahi, tab tak chhodenge nahi (I will not let go until I cause a split in BJP)." Sahani said that he had been waiting for the moment (being declared deputy CM face) for the last three and a half years.

He narrated how his MLAs were poached by the BJP after he raised the issue of reservation for fishermen in Bihar and other states. "I have not forgotten the moment when I was dropped from the Nitish cabinet, and my MLAs were poached by BJP. I had vowed then to teach BJP a lesson at an opportune time. And that time has come," he told this reporter.

In the 2020 Assembly elections, four VIP candidates won. In November 2021, its Bochahan MLA Musafir Sahni died. In the by-election, the BJP fielded its candidate on the seat earlier held by VIP. Moreover, Sahani's decision to contest elections in Uttar Pradesh against the BJP strained their relationship.

Barely a week before the first phase of the Assembly elections in 2020, Sahani had jumped from the Mahagathbandhan (Grand Alliance) and aligned with the BJP and JD(U). He had then accused RJD and its allies of "betrayal" as his party was sidelined in the seat-sharing deal.

But after his bitter experience with the BJP after 2020 elections, he again aligned with RJD-Congress-led Mahagathandhan and is eyeing better performance in the Assembly polls to be held on November 6 and 11. Sahani initially demanded 25 seats and a deputy CM post but has to settle with 15 seats and deputy CM post.

VIP chief likely to tip poll scales in favour of INDIA

Sahani's party has no MLA in the 243-member Bihar Assembly. Better known as 'Son of Mallah', Sahani is now with INDIA bloc comprising the RJD, Congress and three Left parties—CPI-ML, CPI, CPI(M). He comes from Mallah (fishermen) community, an EBC, which constitutes nearly 2.5% of Bihar's population, as per the caste survey conducted in 2022-23. Mallahs, Sahanis and Nishads constitute nearly 9% of the state's population. The VIP chief is expected to tilt their votes towards INDIA.

DECODE BIHAR POLL

Modi to launch rally from ex-CM Karpoori Thakur's home district Samastipur

RAMASHANKAR & RAJESH KUMAR THAKUR @ Patna/New Delhi

WITH the Bihar Assembly elections heating up, all eyes are on Prime Minister Narendra Modi's rallies on Friday in Samastipur and Begusarai districts. Modi is expected to pay tribute to late Karpoori Thakur, who served as Bihar chief minister in the 1970s and was awarded the Bharat Ratna this year for his work uplifting the downtrodden. This will be Modi's first visit to Thakur's home district of Samastipur after he was honoured with the country's highest civilian honour.

The visit carries a striking irony: Modi will be campaigning against Karpoori Thakur's granddaughter, Dr. Jagriti Thakur, fielded by Prashant Kishor's Jan Suraaj Party, the rival of Modi-led NDA, from Morba assembly constituency. Karpoori Thakur's son, Ram Nath Thakur, continues the family's political legacy as a Rajya Sabha MP and Union Minister of State for Agriculture.

In Mithilanchal, comprising 30 seats, NDA holds 22, while the Mahagathbandhan controls eight. Modi's rally in Samastipur, which is part of Mithilanchal, is part of a larger campaign, with him addressing seven rallies, Amit Shah 25, and BJP president JP Nadda and Rajnath Singh 22 each.

Meanwhile, on Thursday, Modi held his second virtual interaction with party workers, urging them to stay in touch with first-time voters in Bihar, around 14.5 lakh. He suggested felicitating these voters, emphasising their role in shaping the state's future. Modi highlighted development projects under the NDA—Makhana cultivation and startups, roads, bridges, airports, metros, and digital initiatives—emphasising that Bihar now speaks of progress, not migration.

Taking aim at the Opposition, he criticised the Mahagathbandhan, calling it a "Lathvandhan" formed for political gain and pointing to past ties with Naxal outfits. Praising CM Nitish Kumar, Modi said the state has moved from fear to public trust.

Drones used to smuggle weapons from Pakistan

The Jharkhand police have found that weapons are being smuggled into the state from Pakistan through drones. Cops on Wednesday arrested five people, including a woman, for their involvement in an extortion racket and cross-border smuggling of weapons. According to Ranchi City SP Paras Rana, following a detailed round of interrogation, the arrested persons told the investigators that the Sujit Sinha and Prince Khan gangs procure weapons from Pakistan through drones via Moga (Punjab), which they use to extort money by spreading terror among big businessmen, capitalists and traders at various places across the country, including Ranchi.

4th SAAF Sr Athletics C'ships from today

The fourth South Asian Athletics Federation (SAAF) Senior Athletics Championships, scheduled to be held in Ranchi from October 24 to 26, will be inaugurated by Chief Minister Hemant Soren on Friday at the Birsa Munda Football Stadium in Morhabadi. According to Soren, who says hosting the championship is a matter of pride for Jharkhand, has directed officials to ensure that the event is conducted on a grand scale in a well-organised manner. Such international tournaments boost Jharkhand's growing reputation in the field of sports and help the state build a distinct identity on the global stage, he said.

Action against 11 cops for taking bribes in UP

NAMITA BAJPAI @ Lucknow

IN a crackdown on corruption, Uttar Pradesh DGP Rajeev Krishna has suspended 11 police personnel after a video went viral showing them allegedly taking bribes from drivers at vehicle checkpoints in Chitrakoot, Banda, and Kaushambi.

The suspended officers include three SHOs, five sub-inspectors, and three constables. In Chitrakoot, SHOs Manoj Chaudhary, Anupama Tiwari, and Pankaj Tiwari, along with Sub-Inspector Imran Singh and constables Ranbir Singh, Shubham Dwivedi, and Ajay Kumar, were suspended. Banda district saw the suspension of SHO Kuldeep Tiwari and Constable Anurag Yadav, while in Kaushambi, SHO Prabhunath Singh and Constable Shivam Singh were suspended.

The action followed a sting operation showing police allegedly demanding money from overloaded trucks to allow passage. A senior official said, "The Uttar Pradesh Police has zero tolerance for corruption. Anyone tarnishing the image of the force will face strict action."

The DGP has instructed ADGs and DIGs to monitor police personnel on highways and checkpoints and ensure strict disciplinary action if needed.

Braveheart's battle: Jawan dies while rescuing friends from drowning in Gujarat

How a post-Diwali outing to river took a tragic turn

Four friends had gone to take bath in the river near Tikar in Vanthali taluka on Wednesday. Three of them got caught in a powerful current. The jawan jumped in to save them. While he managed to pull his friends one by one to safety, Bharat himself was caught in the fierce river current and went missing.

AN Army jawan lost his life after heroically saving his drowning friends in the raging Ozat river near Tikar village in Gujarat's Junagadh district. His body was recovered on Thursdfay morning, casting a shadow of grief over the village.

As a cheerful post-Diwali outing, four friends had gone to take bath in the river near Tikar in Vanthali taluka on Wednesday. Within moments, laughter turned to panic as three of them were caught in a powerful current. Seeing them struggle, the jawan, Bharat Laxman Bhetariya, immediately jumped into the swirling waters to save them. While he managed to pull his friends one by one to safety, Bharat himself was caught in the fierce river current and went missing, officials and villagers said.

Locals immediately alerted fire department officials in Vanthali. "A fire brigade team rushed to the spot immediately to conduct a rescue operation. They searched through the night, as anxious family members and villagers waited by the riverbank, clinging to hope. At dawn, hope turned into heartbreak. Bharat's lifeless body was found on Thursday morning, ending the agonising search," said a fire department official who was part of the rescue team.

The news of Bharat's death has plunged the entire region into grief, turning festive celebrations into mourning. As Diwali lights flickered in homes, Tikar village dimmed in sorrow remembering a son who gave his life not in battle, but in bravery. "Bharatbhai Bhetaria's selfless act has etched his name forever as a symbol of true courage and friendship," a villager said.

'Abhay' for anonymity: How Maoists evade police action

EJAZ KAISER @ Raipur

ENGLISH playwright William Shakespeare wrote in Romeo and Juliet, "What's in a name?" For the outlawed CPI (Maoist), the answer is everything. Names, often assumed or symbolic, are a tool of survival, strategy, and connection with the communities in which they operate.

"In the CPI (Maoist) movement, their key leaders mostly operated underground. Since maintaining anonymity remains a key part of their modus operandi, they continue their illegitimate pursuits under different pen names or aliases. Such names that are neither modern nor customary facilitate them to gel with the local population," said Sundarraj P, who spent over nine years as inspector general of police in Bastar.

One example is the name 'Abhay', used as the spokesperson for the Central Committee. The name continues to represent the group publicly, regardless of which leader issues the statement. Last week, two press releases bore the name previously used by Mallojula Venugopal Rao, alias Sonu, who had surrendered in Gadchiroli.

The practice goes far beyond just official statements. Senior Maoist figures, who operate underground often for decades, have nicknames that help them blend with local populations. Sundarraj explained: "For instance, Sujatha, a senior-most Maoist woman who remained underground for nearly four decades, was popular among the locals as Mynakka." Sujatha surrendered to the Telangana police last month.

Aliases also allow leaders from one region to operate safely across others, evading law enforcement while continuing their mission. Among tribal communities, names like Bhima, Aiytu, Ramanna, Rajman, Nirmala, and Sarita carry informal weight, sometimes challenging social hierarchies and connecting more naturally with villagers than urban or progressive titles do.

Safety is another prime concern. Police intelligence notes that pseudonyms shield leaders from police records and active cases registered across various stations, keeping them one step ahead of security forces.

For Maoists, a name is more than identity—it is a lifeline, a bridge to local populations, and a cloak against the state. In a world where anonymity is survival, a simple alias like Abhay or Mynakka carries decades of history, strategy, and underground life.

ALL IN THE NAME

1. Senior Maoist figures who operate underground have nicknames that help them blend with locals
2. Aliases allow leaders from one region to operate safely across others
3. Pseudonyms shield leaders from police records and active cases

J'khand HC seeks report on witchcraft cases

The Jharkhand High Court has taken suo motu cognisance of media reports on the killing of three members of a family in Lohardaga, including a nine-year-old child, on the suspicion that they practised witchcraft. The court has also sought details of cases registered under the Witchcraft Prevention Act, 1999, in the last two years. Further, it has directed the government to provide all information on the status of investigation of the cases registered in this regard. The HC has directed the listing of the present case along with the records related to PILs filed in 2012 and 2015 related to similar cases. The court will hear the matter next on November 14.

'Carbide gun' partially blinds 14 in MP

ANURAAG SINGH @ Bhopal

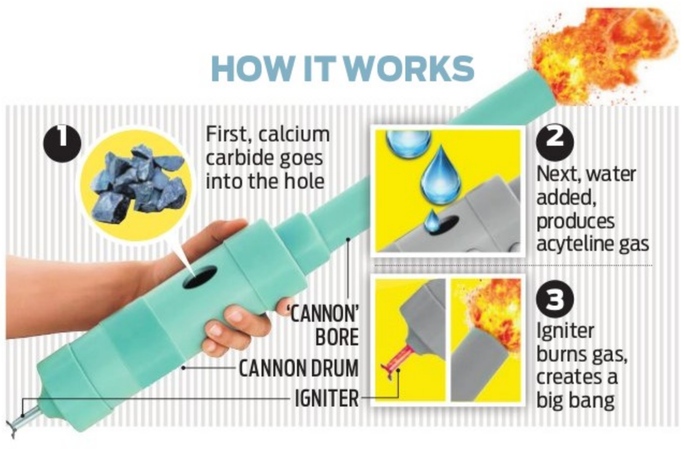
A 'desi firecracker gun' landed as many as 122 Deepawali revelers in hospitals across Madhya Pradesh, at least 14 of whom have partially lost their eyesight.

Better known as a 'carbide gun', the contraption got humongous traction on social media and became a must have 'equipment' for children and teenagers looking for a big bang. Priced at ₹150–200, they were sold as toys despite the possibility of misfire. By the time the state government banned it on October 18, they had already entered many homes.

Vidisha, which neighbours Bhopal, is the worst-hit among all districts. The Vidisha district police have arrested six persons for the illegal sale of the guns.

"I can't see anything since the carbide gun we bought on Deepawali exploded. One of my eyes has burnt completely," recounted 17-year-old Neha, who is currently recuperating at the state government's Hamidia Hospital in Bhopal. Of the 122 patients, 26 are under treatment at Hamidia Hospital.

Some teenagers attempted to make them at home using plastic or tin pipes, filling them with gunpowder, matchstick heads and calcium carbide. One such teen Raj Vishwakarma said, "I attempted to make it at home. That was when it went off on my face, resulting in loss of sight in one of the eyes."



Patients have ruptured their pupils, in many cases leading to permanent blindness

U'khand village puts cap on wedding expenses

Dehradun: To curb the rising expenses and the culture of showiness at social ceremonies, the residents of Kandhar village in Uttarakhand's tribal region of Jaunsar-Bawar have passed a social bylaw limiting the gold jewellery married women can wear at weddings and family functions. The unanimous decision, made at a community meeting, aims to ease the financial burden on poor families, who often struggle to keep up with lavish wedding traditions and heavy jewellery displays. Married women can now wear only three pieces of gold jewellery, namely a nose stud ('phuuli'), earrings ('bundey'), and a wedding necklace ('mangalsutra'). All other heavy or additional ornaments have been prohibited. "The rising cost of gold has made it impossible for poorer families to keep up. Emulating the wealthy often forces families into debt or depletes their savings," said a village elder. "Marriage is a sacred ritual, not a stage for showing off." ENS

High on drugs, Indian-origin truck driver kills three in US crash; held

HARPREET BAJWA @ Chandigarh

A 21-year-old Indian-origin truck driver, Jashanpreet Singh, who had reportedly entered the US illegally in 2022, has been arrested for causing a semi-truck crash in California's Ontario that snuffed out three lives and injured at least four other people on Tuesday.

According to the California Highway Patrol, Jashanpreet allegedly rammed his truck into slow-moving traffic on Interstate 10 in San Bernardino County. Clips of the dash cam footage have since gone viral, sparking an outrage on social media. The victims have not yet been publicly identified.

Meanwhile, toxicology tests have confirmed that Jashanpreet was under the influence of a substance at the time. The Department of Homeland Security, which has confirmed that he was not in the US legally, said the United States Immigration and Customs Enforcement—commonly known as ICE—has lodged a detainer following his arrest.

Jashanpreet now faces multiple charges, including gross vehicular manslaughter while intoxicated. He has been sent to the West Valley Detention Center in Rancho Cucamonga and is reportedly awaiting charges. He will appear in the Rancho Cucamonga Superior Court on Thursday. It remains under investigation whether he possessed a valid commercial driver's licence.

Notably, this comes in the backdrop of another fatal crash in the US involving an illegal immigrant from India. Indian-origin truck driver Harjinder Singh (28) had made an illegal U-turn on a road in Florida on August 12, killing three people. He had entered the US illegally in 2018 and obtained a commercial licence from California. He was arrested six days after the accident at his California home and later lodged in Florida's St Lucie County Jail. He faced three counts of vehicular homicide and a sentence possibly lasting around 50 years.

The incident was followed by Washington's decision to stop issuing worker visas for commercial truck drivers. The move was part of the Trump administration's efforts to clamp down on foreign workers.

EU, US impose sweeping sanctions, targeting oil, gas to pressure Putin

Aim to curb Russia's war funding and strengthen support for Ukraine

BRUSSELS

THE European Union on Thursday heaped more economic sanctions on Russia, adding to US President Donald Trump's new punitive measures the previous day against the Russian oil industry. Russian officials and state media dismissed the Western measures, saying they are largely ineffective.

The sanctions are intended as part of a broadened effort to choke off the revenue and supplies that fuel Moscow's invasion of Ukraine and compel Russian President Vladimir Putin to negotiate an end to the war. The measures are a triumph for Ukrainian President Volodymyr Zelenskyy, who has long campaigned for the international community to punish Russia more comprehensively for attacking his country.

"We waited for this. God bless, it will work. And this is very important," Zelenskyy said in Brussels, where EU countries attending a summit announced the latest round of Russia sanctions. Despite US-led peace efforts in recent months, the war shows no sign of ending after nearly four years, and European leaders are increasingly concerned about the threat from Russia.

Ukrainian forces have largely held Russia's bigger army at bay in a slow and ruinous war of attrition along a roughly 1,000-kilometer (600-mile) front line that snakes along eastern and southern Ukraine. Almost daily Russian long-range strikes have taken aim at Ukraine's power grid before the bitter winter, while Ukrainian forces have targeted Russian oil refineries and manufacturing plants.

Energy revenue is the linchpin of Russia's economy, allowing Putin to pour money into the armed forces without worsening inflation and avoiding a currency collapse.

The EU measures especially target Russian oil and gas. They ban imports of Russian liquefied natural gas into the bloc, and add port bans on more than 100 new ships in the Russian shadow fleet of hundreds of aging tankers that are dodging sanctions. The latest sanctions bring the total number of such ships to be banned to 557.

The measures also target transactions with a cryptocurrency increasingly used by Russia to circumvent sanctions; prohibit operations in the bloc using Russian payment cards and systems; restrict the provision of artificial intelligence services and high-performance computing services to Russian entities; and widen an export ban to include electronic components, chemicals and metals used in military manufacturing. A new system for limiting the movement of Russian diplomats within the 27-nation EU will also be introduced. AP

Putin says this is 'serious but limited'; warns of strong reply

MOSCOW

RUSSIAN President Vladimir Putin said on Thursday the latest US sanctions targeting two major oil firms were "serious", but not strong enough to significantly affect the economy.

The United States on Wednesday hit Russia's two biggest oil producers — Rosneft and Lukoil — with sanctions, the first against Russia since US President Donald returned to office.

"They (sanctions) are serious for us, of course, that is clear. And they will have certain consequences, but they will not significantly impact our economic well-being," Putin told reporters. He added that the sanctions were an "unfriendly act" that "does not strengthen Russia-US relations, which have only just begun to recover."

Putin in his televised remarks on the sidelines of the XVII Congress of the Russian Geographical Society said that if Ukraine is given long-range weapons like Tomahawk cruise missiles to strike deep inside Russia, Moscow's response will be 'overwhelming, stunning'.

Putin was responding to reporters on the cancellation of the Budapest summit and fresh sanctions on Russia's two biggest oil corporations.

Meanwhile, Former Russian president Dmitry Medvedev on Thursday said the new US sanctions against Russia and President Donald Trump's cancellation of the Budapest summit are "an act of war against Russia." PTI/AFP

Power to nuke-plant in Zaporizhzhia restored

KYIV: Off-site power to Ukraine's Zaporizhzhia nuclear power plant, which has been occupied by Russian forces for nearly four years, is being restored after a monthlong outage, officials said on Thursday. Energy Minister Svitlana Grynchuk said the 750-kV Dniprovska line to Ukraine's grid has been repaired, while work continues on the 330-kV Ferosplavna backup line through Russian-held areas.

Belgium pushes EU to use frozen Russian assets

BRUSSELS: Belgium's prime minister said on Thursday that his European partners must share the risk of using billions of dollars in frozen Russian assets that are held in his country to help keep Ukraine's economy and war effort afloat in coming years. Ukraine's 2026–27 budget and military needs total $153 billion, with the EU planning to use Russia's frozen assets to help raise crucial international war funding support.

3 held over suspected Russian espionage

LONDON: British counterterrorism police arrested three men in London, aged 44–48, on suspicion of spying for Russia under the National Security Act. Officers searched several properties linked to the investigation. Authorities warned of rising Russian espionage, sabotage, and cyber attacks in the UK, with MI5 citing disrupted plots targeting Moscow's enemies, including politicians and officials.

Relocation, supported by local authorities, police, and military, allows decontamination work to proceed safely and prevents further exposure. Three other families have already moved. Officials have inspected 29,700 vehicles, decontaminating 47 contaminated by Cs-137. The suspected source factory remains sealed during cleanup.

Vance slams Israel's West Bank annexation vote as an 'insult'

JERUSALEM

US Vice President JD Vance criticised on Thursday a symbolic vote in Israel's parliament the previous day about the annexation of the occupied West Bank, saying it amounted to an "insult" and went against the Trump administration policies.

Hard-liners in the Israeli parliament had narrowly passed a preliminary vote in support of annexing the West Bank — an apparent attempt to embarrass Prime Minister Benjamin Netanyahu while Vance was still in the country. The bill, which required only a simple majority of lawmakers present in the house on Wednesday, passed with a 25-24 vote. But it was unlikely to pass multiple rounds of voting to become law or win a majority in the 120-seat parliament. Netanyahu, who is opposed to it, also has tools to delay or defeat it.

On the tarmac of Tel Aviv's Ben Gurion airport before departing Israel, Vance also unveiled new details about U.S. plans for Gaza, saying he expected reconstruction to begin soon in some "Hamas-free" areas of the territory. But he warned that rebuilding the territory after a devastating two-year war could take years.

"The hope is to rebuild Rafah over the next two to three years and theoretically you could have half a million people live (there)," he said, speaking of the strip's southernmost city.

That would account for about a quarter of Gaza's population of roughly 2 million, 90% of whom were displaced from their homes during the war. Out of every 10 buildings that stood in Gaza prewar, eight are either damaged or flattened. An estimated cost of rebuilding Gaza is about $53 billion, according to the World Bank, the UN and the European Union. The Israeli parliament's vote has stirred widespread condemnation, with over a dozen countries — including Egypt, Qatar and Saudi Arabia — rebuking the vote it in a joint statement that called all Israeli settlements in the West Bank a violation of international law.

Netanyahu's office said in a statement that the "vote on annexation was a deliberate political provocation by the opposition to sow discord."

Vance said that if the Knesset's vote was a "political stunt, then it is a very stupid political stunt." "I personally take some insult to it," Vance said. "The policy of the Trump administration is that the West Bank will not be annexed by Israel."

The deputy Palestinian UN ambassador, Majed Bamya, said Palestinians "appreciate" the Trump administration's opposition to annexation. AP

EU seeks bigger role in Gaza, West Bank peace

BRUSSELS: European Union leaders are seeking a more active role in Gaza and the occupied West Bank after being sidelined from the U.S.-brokered ceasefire between Israel and Hamas. At a summit on Thursday in Brussels largely focused on Ukraine and Russia, EU heads of state are also expected to discuss the shaky ceasefire in Gaza and potential EU support for stability in the war-torn coastal enclave. The EU has been the biggest provider of aid to the Palestinians and is Israel's top trading partner. "It is important that Europe not only watches but plays an active role," said Luc Frieden, the prime minister of Luxembourg, as he headed in to the meeting. "Gaza is not over; peace is not yet permanent," he said.

Lula announces re-poll bid for 4th nonconsecutive term

SAO PAULO

BRAZILIAN President Luiz Inácio Lula da Silva said Thursday he will run for reelection next year, seeking a fourth nonconsecutive term. "I'm turning 80, but you can be sure I have the same energy I had when I was 30. And I'm going to run for a fourth term in Brazil," Lula told reporters during his official visit to Indonesia. The Brazilian leader is traveling across Asia. After his visit to Indonesia, where he met with President Prabowo Subianto, Lula will head to Malaysia to attend the Association of Southeast Asian Nations summit.

Brazilian media reported that he is expected to meet for the first time with U.S. President Donald Trump in Malaysia on Sunday, following a conciliatory phone call earlier this month. The two leaders are expected to discuss the 50% trade tariff Trump imposed on Brazil. Brazil's constitution allows presidents to serve only two consecutive terms. Lula returned to office in 2023 after 13 years out of power and remains eligible to run again. Before defeating Jair Bolsonaro in 2022 to win a third nonconsecutive term, Lula had said that would be his final campaign both because of his age and because he believed the country needed political renewal. But early in his current term, he began hinting that he might run again. In February 2023, the president said he could seek reelection in 2026, adding that his decision would depend on the country's political context and his health. A dominant figure on Brazil's left, Lula is the country's longest-serving president since its return to democracy 40 years ago.

US lawmaker tells Pentagon to respect Sikh beard policy

NEW YORK: Congressman Thomas Suozzi urged the Pentagon to reconsider its beard-shaving mandate, highlighting Sikh Americans' religious need to maintain uncut hair and beards while serving. He noted similar concerns for Muslim and African American service members, citing faith, cultural identity, and medical reasons. Suozzi emphasized that military standards and religious accommodations under the Religious Freedom Restoration Act can coexist. The appeal coincides with the introduction of the Bipartisan Indian American Heritage Resolution, celebrating Indian Americans' contributions and condemning discrimination against South Asian communities.

Trump pardons Binance CEO Zhao; wipes criminal record

WASHINGTON

US President Donald Trump has pardoned the convicted Binance co-founder Changpeng Zhao, the White House said Thursday, accusing Trump's predecessor Joe Biden of launching an unnecessary "war" against the industry.

Binance was created in 2017, and swiftly became the world's largest cryptocurrency exchange by volume, turning Zhao into a billionaire.

Following an investigation into the firm's operations, Zhao pleaded guilty to violating US anti-money-laundering laws in late 2023, and served a four-month prison sentence for it in 2024. Zhao's pardon wipes his criminal record, and could help pave the way for Binance to return to the United States, around two years after it agreed to suspend its American operations in a deal to resolve the Department of Justice's criminal investigation.

"In their desire to punish the cryptocurrency industry, the Biden Administration pursued Mr. Zhao despite no allegations of fraud or identifiable victims," the White House said in a statement shared with AFP.

The White House said the Biden administration's decision to prosecute Zhao and to seek a three-year prison sentence for him had "severely damaged the United States' reputation as a global leader in technology and innovation," adding that the "war on crypto" was now over.

Binance has spent almost a year pursuing a pardon for Zhao, the Wall Street Journal reported on Thursday, noting that Binance has been a "key supporter" of the Trump family's crypto venture World Liberty Financial.

Despite stepping down as chief executive in 2023, Zhao remains the majority shareholder of Binance. Trump family crypto ventures earn about $1 billion pre-tax, says Financial Times. AFP

US sanction on Russian oil cos: India import bill to rise

Rosneft and Lukoil account for 60% of Russian oil supplies to India

RAKESH KUMAR @ New Delhi

THE fresh sanctions announced by the US on Russia's two largest oil companies, Rosneft and Lukoil, are likely to raise India's crude oil import bill by 2%, as per industry experts.

Analysts say the two companies are among the world's major crude exporters, together supplying 4-5 million barrels a day globally. For India—whose dependence on cheaper Russian crude has risen significantly over the past three years — these two firms account for about 60% of Russian oil supplies.

"The sanctions by the US on certain Russian crude oil producers are likely to impact the purchases by India as these suppliers accounted for 60% of the volumes purchased. While India can substitute purchases from Russia with suppliers from the Middle-East and other geographies, the import bill would rise. On annual basis, the replacement by market priced crude would lead to a rise in import bill by less than 2%," said Prashant Vasisht, senior vice president and co-Group head, Corporate Ratings, ICRA Ltd. India imports about 1 million barrels per day (mbpd) of crude oil from Russia, of which about 1 mbpd comes from Rosneft alone. With the sanctions in place, India, which meets 85% of its crude requirement through imports, will have to explore alternative suppliers to meet energy needs.

India will have to explore alternative suppliers

India imports 1 mbpd of crude oil from Russia, of which 1 mbpd comes from Rosneft alone. With the sanctions, India, which meets 85% of its crude needs through imports, will have to explore alternative suppliers to meet energy needs

US President Donald Trump on Thursday announced sanctions on Rosneft and Lukoil, describing the move as part of efforts to pressure Moscow into negotiating a peace deal in Ukraine. The announcement came a day after Trump said a planned meeting with Russian President Vladimir Putin in Budapest would be postponed indefinitely.

The development follows similar actions by the UK, which sanctioned the same two Russian oil giants earlier in the week. The EU has approved its 19th package of sanctions against Russia, including a ban on imports of Russian liquefied natural gas (LNG) starting January 2027. The US has urged Japan, another major buyer of Russian LNG, to halt its energy imports from Russia. Trump had earlier claimed PM Modi assured him India was "not going to buy much oil from Russia" and wanted to see an end to Russia-Ukraine war. However, India's Ministry of External Affairs (MEA) denied any such assurance.

Crude oil prices on Thursday rose ₹200 to ₹5,351 per barrel in futures trade, as participants increased their positions following a firm spot demand. On the MCX, crude oil for November delivery traded higher ₹200 or 3.88%.

'China's WTO move no threat for India'

PUSHPITA DEY @ New Delhi

THERE is no immediate concern for India as China challenged India's policy measures aimed at promoting domestic manufacturing in electric vehicles (EVs) and renewable energy sectors at the World Trade Organization (WTO), experts say. Due to the absence of a functional appellate body at the WTO, the case is unlikely to move forward anytime soon, making Beijing's move just a symbolic gesture, as per them. Experts hinted that the issue might get dragged on for 4-5 years without further development.

"The WTO appellate body (is) completely non-functional, (so) the dispute process is all by way of a symbolic gesture or a token. By way of tokenism that you file a complaint, then there are consultations, it doesn't yield results and then it goes to the panel stage and the panel gives a ruling. There could be two outcomes — India wins the case or China's complaint is upheld. If China wins, India will file an appeal at the WTO. Because there is no appellate body, it will be filed into the void," explains Jayant Dasgupta, former Indian ambassador to the WTO.

Last week, China filed a formal complaint against India, alleging that New Delhi's EV and battery subsidies give "an unfair competitive edge" to domestic industries and undermine Beijing's interests. Under WTO procedures, India has 30 days from the filing date to hold consultations with China to address its concerns. If these talks fail, Beijing can seek the formation of a dispute settlement panel to adjudicate the matter.

"So, the appeal will be kept pending and till the appeal is kept pending, there is no finality to a dispute. Till such time as the appeal is disposed off against India, China can't retaliate as per the WTO," said Dasgupta. He estimates that the entire process would take no less than four-five years, if the appellate body is revived with immediate effect. Experts assert that China itself has been a heavy subsidiser, and not only it provides subsidies at the federal level but also at city level.

India could also gain a timing advantage. A former bureaucrat, who doesn't wish to be named, highlighted that the Production Linked Incentive (PLI) scheme for EVs, runs from FY23 to FY27, with incentives disbursed until FY28. By the time the WTO process concludes, the scheme would likely have ended.

S&P downgrades Tata Motors PV to 'negative'

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @ New Delhi

RATINGS agency S&P Global has downgraded the outlook of Tata Motors Passenger Vehicles to 'negative' on the slow recovery of its British subsidiary, Jaguar Land Rover (JLR), which was recently hit by a scathing cyber attack.

S&P Global has estimated that JLR revenue will decline 15%-18%, to about £24 billion in fiscal 2026 and its profitability will also take a hit because its investment intensity will remain steady. The company's S&P Global Ratings-adjusted EBITDA margins will decline to 3%-5% in fiscal 2026, from 7.6% in fiscal 2025.

The cyberattack, which began on August 31, 2025, has materially hampered JLR's operations. Production was completely halted throughout September and the first week of October.

JLR recently reported that the groupwide system shutdown drove down wholesale and retail volumes in the September 2025 quarter by 24.2% and 17.1%, respectively, versus the same period a year ago.

Mistry set to get lifetime trusteeship in Tata Trusts amid members' tussle

BENN KOCHUVEEDA @ Mumbai

TRUSTEES of the Tata Trusts that own the country's largest corporate group are finally smoking the peace pipe, with the CEO of the trusts moving a motion to reappoint Mehli Mistry, the leader of the warring faction for another term as a trustee, and most likely a lifetime trusteeship.

As per a source, the trusts have circulated a motion to reappoint Mistry as a trustee. If done, unanimously (Oct 17, 2024 amendments to norms appointing trustees), would make him a lifetime trustee. "Siddharth Sharma, CEO of Tata Trusts, has circulated a motion to other trustees today, seeking to reappoint Mistry to the Sir Dorabji Tata Trust and Sir Ratan Tata Trust (major trusts that own as much 52% of the 66.6% that the dozen odd trusts own in Tata Sons)," the source cited above told TNIE on Thursday.

A Tata Trusts spokesperson didn't respond to a message seeking confirmation though.

The first three-year term of Mistry, who was handpicked by late Ratan Tata in 2022 and is also a cousin of Noel' wife Aloo,

Trusts circulate motion to reappoint Mistry as trustee

According to a source, the trusts have circulated a motion to reappoint Mistry as a trustee. If done, unanimously (Oct 17, 2024 amendments to norms appointing trustees), would make him a lifetime trustee is coming to an end on October 28. Mistry is related to the Shapoorji Pallonji family, which holds 18.4% stake in Tata Sons. Four of the six trustees led by Mistry, Pramit Jhaveri, Jehangir HC Jehangir and Darius Khambata — have been openly revolting against chairman Noel Tata since last month when they voted out fellow trustee and vice-chairman Vijay Singh, another confident of the late Ratan Tata from 2011, from getting re-nominated to the Tata Sons' board on September 11.

The move comes after the government earlier this month had asked the trusts and Tata Sons to resolve issues amicably with a whatever-it-takes approach and not to let their differences spill out in the public.

On October 7, Tata Trusts chairman Noel Tata and Tata Sons chairman N Chandrasekaran met Union home minister Amit Shah and finance minister Nirmala Sitharaman at the former's house in New Delhi to help resolve the issues.

Colgate net profit falls 17% to ₹327.5 crore

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @ New Delhi

FMCG major and oral care products maker Colgate-Palmolive India on Thursday reported a 17% fall in profit at ₹327.51 crore in the September quarter on account of tough quarter on a high growth base, impacted by GST-led disruptions.

It had posted a net profit of Rs 395.05 crore in the year-ago period, according to a regulatory filing from the oral hygiene product maker Colgate-Palmolive India Ltd (CPIL).

Sales were down 6.33 per cent to Rs 1,507.24 crore during the quarter from ₹1,609.21 crore a year ago. "While we continued to navigate through a difficult operating environment, our second quarter performance also reflects the transitory disruption at distributors and retailers across channels caused by GST rate revision," said its Managing Director & CEO Prabha Narasimhan. Total expenses of CPIL in the September quarter were down 6.21 per cent to ₹1,049.72 crore. CPIL's total income, including other income, was ₹1,534.53 crore, down 9.47 per cent in the September quarter. Shares of Colgate-Palmolive India Ltd on Thursday settled at Rs 2,288.80 on the BSE, up 1.30 per cent.

HUL net profit increases 4% on one-off tax gain, revenue remains flat

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @ Mumbai

THE country's largest fast moving consumer goods maker Hindustan Unilever on Thursday reported a muted set of numbers—the first under the new chief executive Priya Nair.

The company's consolidated net income remained in the green due to one-time tax gains, inching up 4% to ₹2,694 crore while revenue from operations grew only about 2% to ₹16,061 crore in the September quarter. The consumer goods major received a net positive impact of ₹184 crore in the second quarter from the resolution of past years' tax matters between English and Indian tax authorities. Had it not been for this, post-tax profit declined 4% year-on-year, the company said in an exchange filing on Thursday.

Nair, who took over the reins of the company as the first female CEO and MD from August, said the company delivered a "competitive performance" despite transitory disruptions and described the GST rate cuts as a "positive step" that should bolster consumption and consumer sentiment once markets stabilise.

Nair further said HUL aims to accelerate portfolio transformation through sharper consumer segmentation and stronger digital brand engagement. Despite the poor earnings, the board approved a ₹19/share payout to shareholders for the quarter, helping lift the stock price by nearly 2% intraday but lost the steam later, yet remaining in the buy zone. The company's underlying sales growth stood at 2%, while underlying volume growth was flat and the company attributed the poor show to "the temporary effects of GST rate cuts and the extended monsoon conditions across several regions."

Another factor affecting the bottomline was the 90 bps hit on the operating margin which came in at 23.2% as the company increased investments in the business. On a standalone basis, sales grew 1% at ₹15,418 crore during the quarter and standalone net profit grew 3% to ₹2,690 crore.

RBI flags geopolitical tension as risks to cross-border payments, financial flows

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @ New Delhi

THE Reserve Bank has flagged geopolitical tension as a key risk to cross-border payments and financial flows, citing the centralised nature of global financial infrastructure and dependence on a few major settlement currencies.

The RBI warned that these risks could disrupt global payment systems, impacting payments and money flows. It has been taking measures to enhance cross-border payments by encouraging collaboration with other countries, including interlinking of UPI on bilateral and multilateral bases. "Sanctions, restrictions on financial systems or currencies, and other operational barriers can disrupt markets and access. Affected countries may respond by developing bilateral or multilateral alternatives to safeguard against such disruptions," the RBI said in its latest Payments System Report for the first half of 2025.

The RBI and the Monetary Authority of Singapore operationalised the linkage of their respective fast payment systems (FPSs)—UPI and PayNow - in 2023. Acceptance of UPI app via QR codes has been operationalised in Bhutan, France, Mauritius, Nepal, Singapore, the UAE and Qatar, enabling Indian travellers to make payments to merchants abroad using their UPI apps. India, along with Malaysia, the Philippines, Singapore and Thailand, has joined "project nexus"—a multilateral initiative to enable instant cross-border payments by interlinking domestic FPSs.

Meanwhile, digital payments have surged to 99.8% of total transaction volume and 97.7% in value at ₹1,572 lakh crore during the first half 2025, a major rise from 2019 when digital payments began to gain traction, show the latest RBI data.

RBI gold bond investors to get 325% return on redemption

BENN KOCHUVEEDAN @ Mumbai

THE Reserve Bank on Thursday announced the final redemption price and date of sovereign gold bonds (SGBs) under the 2017-18 series IV, offering the bondholders a whopping 325% return on investment as the price of the yellow metal has zoomed since then and had touched ₹1.3 lakh for 10 grams.

As a notification issued by the RBI on Wednesday, the final redemption date for this tranche is October 23 and the price is fixed at ₹12,704 per unit of SGB. The bond was issued on October 23, 2017, at a price of ₹2,987 per gram. As the RBI has fixed ₹12,704 as the maturity payout, the total gain for an investor comes at ₹9,717. This amount will be even greater for those investors who applied online and made the payment through the digital mode. For such investors, the issue price of the SGB stood at ₹2,937 per gram.

Even if the absolute return of ₹9,717 is taken into account, it represents a full 325% over the buying price, even excluding the additional interest of 2.5% that SGB holders have been receiving semi-annually during the tenure. The SGB redemption price is calculated based on the simple average of the closing price of gold of 999 purity from three business days prior, as published by the India Bullion and Jewellers Association, from the date of redemption. In the current case, the closing prices were the average of October 17-20, 2025, and October 22, 2025.

SGBs are automatically credited to the bank account of an investor upon maturity. Moreover, any capital gains tax arising on the redemption of these bonds by an individual is exempted.

Upcoming airport: Hosur land prices rise 40%

SANAL SUDEVAN @ Chennai

Land prices in Hosur, an industrial hub in Tamil Nadu, is expected to appreciate 25-40% in the next two-three years due to the upcoming airport in the region. The 19,000-crore airport project is expected to handle 300 lakh passengers annually.

Speculative buying near Berigai and Bagalur in Shoolagiri taluk of Krishnagiri district has led to rise in land prices up to ₹1,500 and ₹3500 per square foot, respectively. Prashant Thakur, executive director & head - research & advisory, ANAROCK Group, said, "It is likely to cause an increase in property values in Krishnagiri district, which can be anywhere between 25-40% depending on location and project. It will improve connectivity along Bengaluru's south-eastern corridor and increase demand for industrial and commercial spaces. This market is advantageously located near Electronic City and the border between Karnataka and Tamil Nadu. We can expect the announcement of integrated townships as well as logistics hubs and warehouses all over the region."

Customer inquiries have increased from two key groups: investors and professionals from Bengaluru's Electronic City, who see the airport as connectivity advantage and a chance for strong, capital appreciation

Bala Ramajayam, founder and MD at G Square

Bala Ramajayam, founder and MD at G Square, a real estate developer, said, "We are seeing surge in property prices and customer inquiries in Hosur, based on market activity following the announcement. Customer inquiries have increased from two key groups: investors and professionals from Bengaluru's Electronic City, who see the airport as a major connectivity advantage and a chance for strong, high-yield capital appreciation." Ramajayam said the Hosur airport is likely to attract ₹80,000–1,05,000 crore in sectoral investments and generate 3.65–4.55 lakh jobs over the next decade, positioning Hosur as India's next major integrated industrial and aviation hub.

With the airport announcement, industries are intending to establish warehouses and third-party logistics as it will give better access to global market from Hosur, which already has a strong base of manufacturing electronics and EV products. The town being the manufacturing hub, coupled with airport announcement closer to Tier-1 city Bengaluru, the real estate prices shot up by nearly three times.

WR holder Chepngetich gets 3-year doping ban

Kenya's marathon world record holder, Ruth Chepngetich has been banned for three years for doping, the Athletics Integrity Unit (AIU) announced Thursday. The 31-year-old, a former world marathon champion and a three-time winner of the Chicago Marathon, tested positive for the banned diuretic hydrochlorothiazide in March.

Kohli's twin failures, Sharma's fifty talking points in India's loss

SWAROOP SWAMINATHAN
@ Chennai

IT'S hard to find context in an ODI bilateral series with no major events scheduled in that format for the next two years. But that's the space both Virat Kohli and Rohit Sharma exist in right now. Having become one format players for the national team and with the 50-over World Cup remaining an itch both want to scratch for one last time in 2027, every match becomes an event in and of itself.

It's why the ongoing three-match 50-over series Down Under may, in hindsight, be known as the farewell tour for two giants of Indian sports. It certainly looked like one for Kohli when he raised his hand to acknowledge the cheers of the largely Indian crowd at Adelaide after his dismissal for a second consecutive zero. He was caught in front and after a quick consultation with Sharma in the middle — because that's how these things work — Kohli made the long walk back.

Adelaide, in essence, made Kohli. It was here in 2014 that the then young captain made two 100s in both innings of a Test. His 141, in the fourth innings, put in place the foundations for the kind of cricket his team came to play under him. That gesture fuelled talk of an announcement in the coming days but Kohli's body of work is such that he surely has more goodwill in the bank. If there's an announcement, it will be on his own terms, that's much is pretty clear. Chairman of selectors, Ajit Agarkar, made it very clear that what he does in Australia will have little bearing the next time his employers sit down to pick the ODI squad.

If Kohli was done in by a slightly spicy pitch early on thanks to some residual moisture, Sharma was the beneficiary of some much-needed luck going his way. His intentions were pretty clear: stick to the template of trying to launch balls over the infield to capitalise on the field restrictions. But considering he was beaten multiple times and in various ways — outside edge while defending, inside edge while defending and outside edge while trying to hit the ball aerially over the in-field.

So to label this knock as a throwback would be slightly erroneous but there were some tight Test match leaves. In fact, Josh Hazlewood — more like Hazlegod as the nickname goes — bowled two successive maidens at the opener. The 38-year-old did try to be proactive but some of the deliveries were just too good to be nicked as the old adage goes.

Sharma could have been out a few times but once he survived the period, he opened up. His first 30 runs came off 62 balls but as soon as the bowlers were changed, his blade began to grow. Off Mitchell Owen's first over, he twice pulled him for six in a style the cricketing world has been so accustomed to. When the spinners came on, he was happy to sweep or go inside out over cover. Just when he was trying to hit out through the middle overs, he perished to a catch at fine leg off Mitchell Starc. A scratchy innings was stopped in an apt manner but it's one that will give him some confidence going into Sydney on Saturday.

Sydney could be an important pitstop for the duo before the six ODIs at home over the next few months. For India, though, there will be other learnings too. The continued insistence on batting depth and all-rounders over a genuine wicket-taker in Kuldeep Yadav has seemingly hurt them again. For the hosts, Adam Zampa, one of the foremost white-ball practitioners of the right-arm wristspin, bagged four wickets. Yadav, meanwhile, was left to watch on again.

The likes of Axar Patel propelled India's score to 264 but on a wicket that had eased up significantly in the night, the hosts got ahead of the curve and won with 22 balls to spare.

Brief scores: India 264/9 in 50 ovs (Rohit 73, Shreyas 61; Bartlett 3/39, Zampa 4/60) lost to Australia 265/8 in 46.2 ovs (Short 74, Connolly 61 n.o; Arshdeep 2/41, Sundar 2/37).

After several stumbles, India march into semis

Openers set the tone as Kaur and Co defeat White Ferns by 53 runs

GOMESH S @ Navi Mumbai

AT some point when Smriti Mandhana and Pratika Rawal were piling on runs, having already put up 200 runs for the first wicket, all the eyes were on the Indian dug out. Who are the batters padded up? Which one of them is going to walk in at No 3? Is it going to be Harleen Deol as seen so far through the World Cup, or will it change for what is a crucial match against New Zealand at the DY Patil Stadium in Navi Mumbai on Thursday.

After all, it is what they did in Visakhapatnam against Australia. India were 155/1 in that game and they sent in Deol rather than promoting someone else. When asked about the stagnation that happens with Rawal and Deol in the middle, head coach Amol Muzumdar said that they do not like to tinker too much with the top five while being flexible with the middle and lower middle-order. It cost them against Australia and they collapsed in the death and couldn't post an above par total. In the next game against England, they kept the top four as it is and dropped Jemimah Rodrigues for another bowler. In Navi Mumbai, however, things looked different for a change. Refreshingly so. Deol was not padded up. Not even Harmanpreet Kaur. Rodrigues was. And from the moment she walked in at No 3, the Mumbaikar showed why perhaps she should be playing that role more regularly; or at least whenever India get off to a good start. Rodrigues hit the ground running from word go. It helped that the pitch was a belter for batters and Rawal too was well set and accelerating. But Rodrigues set the tone. She went looking for boundaries and got them; pushed Rawal to run more doubles. She got to her fifty in 39 balls before finishing with an unbeaten 76 off 55, taking India to 340/3 in 49 overs after the rain break. Her knock felt like a timely reminder to herself and the team on what she is capable of doing and how often. It became the difference between India posting 290ish total and 340.

In fact, for the first time in this World Cup, as a team India looked proactive collectively despite dropping a batting all-rounder in Amanjot Kaur for a specialist batter in Rodrigues. To an extent, they did not have much choice in the matter. They knew a loss against New Zealand would make them dependent on the result of the England versus White Ferns contest. They knew they cannot afford to put a foot wrong. While Muzumdar did not acknowledge much of the pressure the team was under, New Zealand captain Sophie Devine put it in perspective considering what they felt during a home WC three years ago.

India needed a perfect game, something they had been searching for since the beginning of the tournament, and they managed to do that on Thursday, at least with the bat. It was an innings where not much went wrong — the cautious starts were made up for, they scored 56 runs in the last six overs and did not lose wickets in clusters.

With the ball, Kranti Gaud gave the start they needed. The pacer rushed a charging Suzie Bates, inducing a top-edge. When it looked like Georgia Plimmer and Amelia Kerr were building a partnership, Renuka Singh showed up. She cleaned up Plimmer first and followed it up with the big wicket of Devine — the one imposing batter who could take the game away from India. It was only a matter of time before they failed and India sealed the qualification for the semifinals. That is exactly what transpired as the Women in Blue eliminated the White Ferns from the race. Under the pump after three losses, India needed to bring their best to stay alive and they did just that. Brief scores: IND-W 340/3 in 49 ovs (P Rawal 122, S Mandhana 109, J Rodrigues 76) bt NZ-W (B Halliday 81, I Gaze 61 n.o; Renuka S 2/25). India won by 53 runs via DLS.

GOMESH S @ Navi Mumbai

AROUND 7 PM on Thursday evening at the DY Patil Stadium, the umpires were having a chat with the two captains — New Zealand's Sophie Devine and India's Harmanpreet Kaur — next to the boundary ropes. The all-important World Cup match between the two teams had been put on hold for about 40 minutes because of rain. In the backdrop, one could still see lightning and thunder even as the covers were starting to come off.

However, long before the heavens opened up and put a halt to India's crusade — they were 329/2 in 48 overs — another lightning struck New Zealand in the name of Smriti Mandhana. India's vice-captain came in, smashed a 95-ball 109 — her 14th ODI hundred — and put India in a dominating position.

The milestone moment came in the 31st over when Mandhana drove Jess Kerr for a single. She pumped her fist in the air midpitch, and so did her opening partner Pratika Rawal – who also scored a century under pressure and went past Belinda Clark's 970 to become second in the list of most runs in a calendar year (976).

But once she was at the non-striker's end, Mandhana let out a sigh of relief, removed her helmet and acknowledged the standing ovation from the dressing room. Earlier, when she reached her fifty, Renuka Singh Thakur showed a rough sketch of a peacock — which is pronounced 'more' in Hindi — to convey what the team wants. Soon, the number 100 was added to the sketch. And she obliged much to the delight of the dressing room and the 23,180 fans who had filled the stadium till 6.15 PM.

The sight of Mandhana scoring a century in ODIs is nothing new. It has been the norm. However, this one was special. This century meant more to her and the team. Coming into the clash, Mandhana had scored two 80s, but India went on to lose both games. After the defeat against England, a teary Mandhana took responsibility for the collapse in the press conference.

Another collapse against New Zealand would have been a massive blow for the Indian team in a home World Cup. Mandhana knew it all too well. On the eve of the match, after having a long stint with the seamers and spinners, she went to the centre-pitch, handpicked specific net bowlers and went onto hit them for a good 20 minutes.

On Thursday, after starting slow — she was on nine off 19 at one point — she got going. It began with a six over extra cover off off-spinner Eden Carson and soon, there was no looking back.

She muscled Amelia Kerr over mid-wicket, caressed Jess between point and covers, before taking on Carson again. The fifty came in 49 balls, and from thereon, she only accelerated. It helped that she had got some bat on what was a close LBW call off Amelia.

When the big screen showed the edge, the crowd let out a massive roar, and Mandhana obliged them with a few more stunning shots. Such was the onslaught that Devine was forced to bring on Suzie Bates, who hadn't bowled a single delivery in the tournament.

None of it mattered as Mandhana was unstoppable — as she has been since the beginning of 2024. Last year, the Indian vice-captain amassed 747 runs in 13 innings at an average of 57.46 and a strike rate of 95.15. The ongoing one has only been better — 1259 runs in 20 innings, average of 62.95 and strike rate 111.41. Mandhana has married her omnipresent consistency with intent, and her strike rate has only helped Rawal flourish at the other end.

In many ways, the 29-year-old is at the peak of her prowess, and she has been smashing records almost every game at this point.

She is only one century away from Meg Lanning's record of 15 hundreds; already fourth on the run-getters list with South Africa captain Laura Wolvaardt chasing her not too far behind. Without any exaggeration, the Indian is already an all-time great in the women's game.

Though Mandhana started late in this World Cup, her last three innings are 88, 80 and 109 and with three more games to go — should India the final — she will only want to build from hereon.

For India needs 'more' from Smriti Mandhana in the next two weeks than they ever have to fulfil the dream of winning their first-ever ICC trophy.

Wrestler penalised over identity discrepancy

FIROZ MIRZA @ Chennai

Greco-Roman wrestler Sanjeev, who represented India at the 2024 World Championships held in Tirana, Albania, has been suspended by the Wrestling Federation of India for alleged domicile and identify discrepancy on Thursday. The wrestler won his first bout in the 55kg weight category before losing the next to bow out of the Worlds held from October 28 to 31 in non-Olympic weight categories.

What raised the suspicion is the fact that the wrestler in question procured his birth certificate from Municipal Corporation of Delhi (MCD), Rohini Sector on August 9, 2022, almost 22 years after his recorded date of birth. Within 20 days, a Haryana Resident Certificate was issued to him on September 1, 2022.

It did not stop there as the Regional Passport Office, Delhi allegedly issued the grappler a passport on June 20, 2023, which must have been used for the visit to Albania. In the passport, Delhi has been mentioned as the place of birth with the same address as stated in the MCD's birth certificate. However, as per the records of the Citizen Resource Information Department vide Family ID dated Aug 30, 2022, Sanjeev is reflected as a resident of Jind, Haryana.

"Upon examination of the documents submitted by the wrestlers, the WFI has found these discrepancies. Given these discrepancies, the federation is unable to ascertain the domicile of the wrestler," a WFI source told this daily. The WFI has forwarded the documents to the competent authorities for verification and necessary action, added the source.

The federation has also issued a notice signed by president Sanjay Kumar Singh.

IF YOU LOVE MAKING VIDEOS

HERE ARE 5 GADGETS YOU SHOULD OWN

RAKESH KUMAR @ New Delhi

THESE days, making videos has become a growing trend — whether it's for YouTube, Instagram, podcasts, or simply to capture travel moments. To produce professional-quality content, you need the right tools that can turn an ordinary clip into something extraordinary. Here are five must-have gadgets every video enthusiast should consider.

A high-quality camera

1 A good camera is the foundation of every great video. Brands like Sony, Canon, and Panasonic lead the market with creator-friendly models. The Sony ZV-E10, for instance, is designed especially for vloggers. It offers 4K video recording, fast autofocus, and a flip-out screen that makes it easy to frame yourself. Similarly, the Canon EOS R50 delivers excellent image quality in a compact, mirrorless design. If you prefer shooting on your phone, the Apple iPhone 17 Pro and Samsung Galaxy S24 Ultra offer stunning video performance with advanced sensors, cinematic modes, and built-in stabilisation—perfect for creators who want to travel light.

A reliable tripod or gimbal

2 Nothing ruins a great shot faster than shaky footage. For stable videos, the Joby GorillaPod is a versatile choice—its flexible legs can grip almost any surface, making it ideal for desk setups or outdoor shoots. For creators who record while walking or moving, a gimbal is a game-changer. Devices like the DJI Osmo Mobile 6 or Zhiyun Smooth 5S provide motorised stabilisation, ensuring buttery-smooth shots even when you're on the move.

External microphone

3 Crisp, clear audio gives your videos a professional edge. Built-in microphones often pick up unwanted background noise, so upgrading to an external mic is a smart move. Brands like RØDE and DJI are favourites among content creators. The RØDE Wireless GO II and DJI Mic 2 are compact wireless systems that deliver studio-quality sound—perfect for interviews, vlogs, and outdoor recordings. If you're on a budget, the BOYA BY-M1 is a reliable wired option that performs well for beginners.

Portable lighting kit

4 Good lighting can completely transform how your videos look. Soft, balanced lighting highlights details and sets the right mood. For portable use, the Aputure Amaran 100d and Lume Cube Panel Mini are excellent picks — both offer adjustable brightness and colour temperature. For beauty or tutorial creators, ring lights from Digitek or Godox provide even, flattering illumination that enhances skin tones and reduces shadows.

External storage & editing tools

5 External storage and editing tools High-quality video files take up a lot of space, so fast and secure storage is essential. The Samsung T9 Portable SSD and SanDisk Extreme Portable SSD are two reliable choices, offering quick transfer speeds and durable designs. Once your footage is ready, editing software completes the process. Beginners can start with Adobe Premiere Rush or CapCut, while professionals often use DaVinci Resolve or Adobe Premiere Pro for advanced colour correction.

Lenovo leads global PC shipments in third quarter; HP, Dell follow

RAKESH KUMAR @ New Delhi

CHINESE technology giant Lenovo has retained its position as the world's leading PC maker in the third quarter of 2025, posting a 17.4% year-on-year (YoY) increase in shipments — the highest growth among the top six vendors, according to preliminary data from Counterpoint Research.

HP secured the second spot with a 10.3% YoY rise in shipments, supported by robust demand from commercial and enterprise segments.

Meanwhile, Dell remained resilient despite a slight 0.9% YoY decline in shipments. The company still managed a 2.7% quarter-on-quarter (QoQ) uptick, reflecting steady but cautious spending by business customers.

Apple also reported strong momentum, with shipments climbing 14.9% YoY, driven by the success of its latest MacBook models and growing adoption in the enterprise sector.

Asus delivered the fastest QoQ growth of 22.5%, along with a solid 14.1% YoY increase, fueled by strong demand for consumer notebooks and gaming laptops.

According to Counterpoint, the top five vendors together accounted for nearly 75% of global PC shipments, underscoring continued consolidation at the high end of the market. Smaller OEMs, in contrast, saw flat or declining sales. Overall, global PC shipments grew 8.1% YoY in Q3 2025. The growth was mainly driven by the upcoming end of support for Microsoft Windows 10 in October 2025 and strategic inventory adjustments in response to shifting US import tariff policies.

Shift towards AI PCs

Looking ahead, the industry's focus is turning towards AI PCs — laptops and desktops with built-in AI acceleration. In 2025, manufacturers began promoting models capable of running generative AI assistants and large language models locally, reducing dependence on the cloud.

However, according to the report, these AI features have not yet become major sales drivers. Most buyers still prioritise OS compatibility, performance, and battery life over advanced AI capabilities. For now, AI PCs are more about future-proofing, as many enterprises are upgrading to AI-ready systems to prepare for the next wave of computing rather than out of immediate need.

"While the current growth is mainly due to the Windows 10 transition, the next big wave will come from the rise of the AI PC. However, this shift has not yet fully appeared in the Q3 2025 results," said Minsoo Kang, senior analyst at Counterpoint Research.

Amazon is testing new AI-powered smart glasses for its delivery drivers. These glasses display package scans, walking directions, and proof of delivery right in the driver's line of sight—eliminating the need to use phones. Using AI, cameras, and augmented reality, the glasses guide drivers from the van to delivery locations, especially useful in large apartment complexes and business parks. They connect to a control panel on the driver's vest, which includes a battery and emergency button, and can accommodate prescription or light-adjusting lenses for comfort. Currently, Amazon is piloting the glasses in North America, gathering feedback to improve comfort and accuracy before a broader rollout. Future features may include alerts for wrong addresses, pet detection, and adaptation to low light or obstacles. Amazon also unveiled other innovations such as a robotic arm named "Blue Jay" and an AI system called "Eluna".

Redmi to launch Lamborghini edition of flagship K90 Pro Max

Redmi has announced a special Lamborghini edition of its K90 Pro Max, called the Champion edition. The company recently teased the model on Chinese social media site Weibo. This follows earlier popular Champion editions of the K70 Pro and K80 Pro, which were well-received by fans. Created in collaboration with Lamborghini's racing team, Squadra Corse, the design reflects Lamborghini's iconic racing heritage, featuring unique shapes and a metal crater-style camera frame that clearly sets it apart from the regular K90 Pro Max. Unlike the standard model, it likely won't have the denim finish.
